General Otis Reports on the Situation in the Philippines.

SAYS PEOPLE OPPOSE INSURGENTS.

Holds a Large Area of Territory---The Advent of the Rainy Season Prevents Active Campaign---Many Soldiers are sick.

Washington, June 26.—General Otis, in reply to a cable from the war department asking for information regarding the situation and conditions in the Philippines, today cabled a long reply, as follows:

"Manila, June 26.—Adjutant General, Washington:—Rainy season. Little inland campaigning possible in Luzon. We occupy large portion of Tagalog country, lines stretching from Imus south to San Fernando, nearly sixty miles, and to eastward into Laguna province. Insurgent armies have suffered great losses and are scattered; only large force held together about four thousand in Tarlac province and northern Pamainga. Their scattered forces in bands of fifty to five hundred in other portions of Luzon; in Cavite and Baangas provinces could assemble possibly two thousand, though demoralized from recent defeats; mass of people terrorized by insurgent soldiers, desire peace and American protection; no longer flee on approach of our troops unless forced by insurgents, but gladly welcome them; no recent burning of towns; population within our lines becoming dense, taking up land cultivation extensively; kept out of Manila as much as possible, as city population becoming too great to be cared for.

"Natives southeast of Luzon combining to drive out insurgents; only hope insurgent leaders is United States aid.

"They proclaim near overthrow of present administration, to be followed by their independence and recognition by the United States. This is the influence they hold out; much contention prevails among them and no civil government remains; trade with ports not in our possession, former source insurgent revenue, now interdicted; not certain of wisdom of this policy, as people in those ports are without supply of food and merchants suffering losses; meditate restoring trade privileges, although insurgents reap benefits. Courts here in successful operation under direction of able Filipinos.

"Affairs in other islands comparatively quiet, awaiting results in Luzon. All anxious for trade and repeated calls for American troops received. Am giving attention to Jolie archipelago and Palawan islands. Our troops have worked to limit of endurance. Volunteer organizations have been called in; replaced by regulars, who now occupy salient positions. Nebraska, Pennsylvania and Utah now taking transports and Sixth infantry sent to Negros to relieve California. These troops in good physical condition; sickness among troops has increased lately, due mostly to arduous service and climatic influences. Nothing alarming. Of the 12 per cent. of the command reported sick, nearly 6 per cent. in general hospital, of whom 3 per cent. have typhoid and 17 malarial fevers; 25 per cent. have intestinal trouble; remaining 55 per cent. have various ailments, fourteen of which due to wound injuries. Many officers and men who served in Cuba break under recurrence of Cuban fever, and regular regiments lately received are inadequately officered. Otis."

The inadequacy of the number of officers mentioned in the last part of the above cablegram has been remedied by the sailing of the transports Zealandia and Sheridan, carrying a number of officers for regiments in the Philippines.

Adjutant General Corbin says that all officers belonging to regiments in the Philippines who are not absent on account of a surgeon's certificate are under orders to join their regiments at once. Forty-four have sailed on the recent transports going to Manila.

Secretary Alger said today that no action will be taken for the enlargement of the army or sending troops to reinfor[illegible] is until the re[illegible] He would receive no assignment until that time.

GUARD AGAINST SMALLPOX.

BOARD OF HEALTH IN SESSION THIS AFTERNOON.

Will Undoubtedly Recommend Vaccination—Disease Likely to Reach Fort Wayne.

The city board of health is holding an important meeting this afternoon and the leading question up for consideration is that of preparing to combat an epidemic of smallpox. The disease is gaining an extensive foothold in the state, and it is entirely probable that Fort Wayne will be visited by the plague. It may not appear before fall or winter, but it may be expected at any time.

Dr. Proegler, the county health officer, is meeting with the board, and the board will no doubt urge prompt and general vaccination. Dr. L. Park Drayer, the city bacteriologist, who returned from Indianapolis, has set the fashion. Dr. Drayer was vaccinated by the state board of health officer, Dr. Hurty, who then underwent a similar operation at the hands of Dr. Drayer.

Smallpox was brought into the state from Arkansas. It obtained a foothold in some of the southern counties, and then spread northward until it appeared at Shipshewanna and at Valparaiso. At its meeting this afternoon the board of health will undoubtedly adopt stringent measures for combating the the disease. "I do not think," said Dr. Drayer this morning, "that the board will order vaccination at this time, though it will undoubtedly recommend it. As a general thing people pay little attention to such an order until the disease has reached them, and then they are anxious enough to be vaccinated without an order. When the order does come, however, those who neglect to comply with it will be forced to submit to vaccination under the direction of the board."

"There is no occasion for a smallpox scare," continued Dr. Drayer. "In a generally vaccinated community the disease is not usually more fatal than typhoid fever, but no precaution against it should be neglected. When it occurs in summer the disease is often of a mild type and is quite frequently mistaken for something else. It is during the winter that the death-dealing epidemics of smallpox occur."

There are three types of the disease, and some of the cases in the southern part of the state have been of the most virulent form.

BIDS WILL BE OPENED.

The board of public works will hold a special meeting tomorrow evening at which time bids will be opened for the pavements on Walton avenue and Wayne, Fourth, Baker and Madison streets. Bids will be accepted on four kinds of material, sheet asphalt, block asphalt, brick and creosote. Heretofore creosote has not been admitted, but such satisfactory reports come from other cities that the members of the board decided to allow the representatives of creosote to bid. The competition promises to be a as spirited as usual, many of the material men having already arrived in the city.

HONORS FOR FORT WAYNE.

For the benefit of the Fort Wayne District Epworth league, which met at Geneva last week, an evening's entertainment of reading, vocal, violin and piano music was given by Mrs. Carrie Schrader-Gesaman, Miss A. Lillian Schrader and Mrs. Hedwig Schrey. The following is clipped from the Geneva Herald:

"The concert given on Tuesday evening was a grand and delightful success in every way. The participants proved to the congregation that they were perfect artists in that which they had in hand. In fact it was undoubtedly a delightful and gratifying occasion to both the visiting delegates and the citizens of Geneva. A lecture is a grand thing for the education and uplifting of the young people of the church, but we are thoroughly convinced that there could have been nothing more uplifting and refining and inspiring for the occasion than were the music and readings of this company."

BIDS WERE ALL REJECTED.

NO FURNITURE CONTRACT LET BY COMMISSIONERS.

The Lowest Bid Was Not Satisfactory and None Was Therefore Considered.

The county commissioners have rejected all bids for the furniture of the new court house. The lowest bid was submitted by the Wallaeger Manufacturing company, of Milwaukee, and inasmuch as this bid was unsatisfactory, the commissioners determined to reject all bids.

The new law provides that all contracts for material must be awarded to the lowest bidder, the word "best" having been stricken out of the law. Under the old advertisement the furniture dealers were allowed to submit plans of the furniture to be furnished under the bids. Architect Tolan will prepare plans himself for the second bidding. He will select the furniture which the commissioners believe is needed and the award will then be made to the lowest bidder. Under this second bidding all dealers will be on an equal footing.

The re-advertisement will be made at once and it is believed that there will be many more bidders than on the first bidding.

MANNA FALLS AGAIN

The Miraculous Bread from Heaven Which Fed the Children of Israel

IS FOUND AGAIN NEAR MOUNT SINAI.

Much Interest Manifested and Investigators Have Already Left Cairo and Suez for the Sinai Peninsula, to Obtain Specimens of the Manna.

New York, June 26.—A special to the Journal and Advertiser says:

Manna, the marvelous bread upon which the Israelites subsisted for forty years while in the wilderness, has again fallen in Lower Palestine.

Cairo dragomen, who have talked with some of the Bedouins of the Desert of Shur, in Lower Palestine, say that the plainsmen bring word of an extraordinary fall of manna. They say that the strange substance has fallen in such profusion that it covers the ground for a depth of several inches. Other tribes have given similar information, which makes it appear that the manna has fallen over most of the desert lands comprised in the Sinai peninsula, which is beside but well to the eastward of the Suez canal.

All the dwellers in the Sinai peninsula are familiar with the ordinary manna, which is a gummy exudate of the Tamarisk shrub, but they say that the present fall in no way resembles the usual substance. Instead of being yellow, it is white, and it will not keep nearly as long as the ordinary manna. The Bedouins, who have neither books or archives, but have, nevertheless, the chronicles of their ancestors by heart, call it "man-hafu"—the old manna, declaring that it is the manna of their forefathers. This refers to the manna upon which the wandering Israelites were miraculously fed 3,000 years ago.

Hearing of the heavy fall of this strange substance investigators have already left Cairo and Suez for the Sinai peninsula, to obtain specimens of the manna, in the hope that the investigation may make clear one more disputed point in the Bible.

SHOT DOWN IN THEIR OFFICE.

Marion, Ind., June 26.—Willie Brown, aged eighteen, a son of George Brown, a respected citizen of Marion, entered the Chicago Loan company's pawnshop Saturday night at 11 o'clock, as the proprietors were closing up. He came in through a rear door with a mask over his face and a revolver in his hand and demanded the contents of the cash drawer and safe. The proprietors, H. Hurwitz and Max Cunopop, were standing behind the counter, and Cunopop sprang at the man and caught him by the throat. The robber opened fire and sent two bullets into Cunopop's body. He then leveled the pistol at Hurwitz and fired twice, one bullet taking effect in Hurwitz's stomach and the other in the right leg above the knee. The robber then dropped his revolver and started to retreat through the front door. Cunopop sprang on his back and threw his arms around his neck and was carried across the sidewalk into the street and nearly a half square from the scene of of the shooting. He was closely followed by Hurwitz, who was calling for help. A number of merchants in the block came to their assistance and captured the robber and turned him over to the police. Cunopop fell to the ground and was carried into his office, where he expired within half an hour. Hurwitz was taken to the city hospital and the doctors say he cannot live.

BIG VALUE FOR NEW AVELINE.

THE HOTEL IS APPRAISED AT $120,000.

Ordered Sold at Private Sale—Administrators Give Bond for $240,000.

Judge O'Rourke has issued an order for the sale of the New Aveline hotel property at private sale, the sale to be made by the administrators of the late R. T. McDonald's estate, Hon. R. S. Taylor and Henry J. Miller. The property was appraised Saturday by C. A. Wilding and Ed M. Wilson, who fix the value at $120,000. According to law the property cannot be sold at private sale for less than its appraised value and this means that the Madison Avenue bank, of New York, will receive at least a portion of the money due on its second mortgage.

Administrators Taylor and Miller this morning filed in the circuit court a bond for $240,000, the law requiring that their bond shall be twice the appraised value of the property to be sold. The bond was made by Schrader & Wilson, representatives of the Fidelity and Deposit company of Maryland.

The judge's order fixes the time of sale at four weeks after one publication notice and before making transfer the administrators must first secure the approval of the court. It is believed that the property will be bought in by Thomas B. Shoaff, of New York, who holds the first mortgage of $90,000.

The E. F. C. T. auxiliary will have a meeting Wednesday, June 28th, at 2:30 p. m., in the B. of L. E. hall. The new officers will be installed and committees arranged for the coming year. Arrangements will be made to serve ice cream, cake and lemonade afternoons and evenings at Swinney park during the week beginning with July 17th, the proceeds to be used for the hospitals. Every member of the four auxiliaries is cordially invited to be present at this meeting and assist in this work.

The First Presbyterian church family picnic will be held tomorrow afternoon at the Brookside residence of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Bass. Conveyances will meet the street cars from 4 o'clock on and the admission fee to the grounds will be 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children under twelve years of age. The grounds will be illuminated in the evening and ice cream will be on sale. Luncheon will be served at 6:30.

The Fort Waynes wiped up the earth with the Furniture Makers by winning a double-header yesterday and making it five straight victories over Torreyson's alleged coming champions. The Furniture Makers were in a crippled condition and after Valdois had his hand split in Saturday's game they were about as strong as an amateur city league team. It was necessary to fill in yesterday with Fort Wayne semi-professionals and these players helped lose the game by making costly errors.

Reiman and Campbell were opposing twirlers in the first game, and as usual the Fort Wayne twirler was batted for more hits than his opponents, but kept the bingles so scattered that the visitors could score no more than three runs, while yellow support allowed the Hoosiers to score seven runs off Campbell's delivery.

In the second game Manager Glasscock pitted Sample, his new pitcher, against Wolf, and the youngster clearly outpitched Torreyson's star. In nine innings five bingles were made off Sample's delivery and three of these were by Bradley, whose exhibitions of fielding and batting on Fort Wayne grounds have always been 50 per cent. better than his alleged high-class partner, Hemphill. Wolf was poorly supported and, of course, had another lost game credited to his already long list.

The features of the two games was the batting of "Doggie" Miller and the infield work of Tim Flood. Miller made a home run in each game, besides hitting out three singles. In the second game the Fort Waynes made three double plays, one of them from Glasscock to Hollingsworth and back to Glasscock. This play, which is seldom seen on a minor league diamond, was made by the same players in Saturday's game. The following scores will tell the stories of the two victories:

NOTES OF THE GAME.

Wheeling has signed a twirler named Watson, who pitched for the McIlwaine college team. He is said to be a phenom.

Sample's sample of twirling yesterday was high-class and if he can keep up the gait Fort Wayne is assured of another first-class pitcher.

The Superbas beat the Clover Leafs at Lakeside park yesterday 19 to 7. Batteries—Schnelker and Stilder; Stutzenberger, Vachom and Happe.

Eddie Zinram has sent in his resignation as an Interstate league umpire and Bobby Caruthers has succeeded him. Bob is an experienced umpire.

A picked nine calling themselves the Shamrocks played in Huntington yesterday and were defeated 23 to 7. Riley and Jack Smith were the Shamrocks' battery.

The Fort Wayne team draws larger crowds on its trips than any other team in the Interstate league. Patrons know that they will see one team play that never quits, although it may be badly defeated.

Manager Glasscock tells The Sentinel that Charles Comiskey, owner of the St. Paul Western league team, is after "Cy" Swaim. The elongated twirler is not for sale, but Glasscock says that Comiskey can have him for $400 and Willie McGill.

Patterson will be released by Youngstown and Shafer, of the defunct Cedar Rapids team, will play first base for Truby. The management would be better off with a new manager and somebody behind the bat other than "Tacks" Latimer.

The Fort Waynes went to Dayton today, where they will play a series of three games. The Hoosiers then go to Toledo and on Thursday, Friday and Saturday play their last three games of the season in the Lake City. Kelb did not go with the team.

Decatur's crack semi-profesional team will play the Shamrocks at Exhibition park tomorrow afternoon. The Decaturs have won twelve straight games and it is the hope of the Shamrock manager that they can put a crimp in Decatur's winning streak. Robbins and Braden will be in the points for the Shamrocks.

With Hemphill and Valdois out of the Grand Rapids team Toledo should have an easy time winning three straight this week. The league should give Torreyson a call and compell him to transfer his team to Grand Rapids citizens, who have a pride in winning, rather than being continually on the lookout to sell some player and "gold brick" a big league manager.

FRACTURED HIS ARM.

While riding his bicycle in the south part of the city Saturday evening Hiram Moderwell, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Moderwell, of West Wayne street, sustained a fall in which he fractured his left arm at the elbow.

BASE BALL TOMORROW.

Decatur vs. Shamrocks at Exhibition Park. Admission, 25c. Grand stand free. Ladies free. Game called at 3:30.

Prof. Wynecken once lived in this city and has relatives and many friends here. His father, Rev. Wynecken, was for many years pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church and president of the Missouri synod of the German Lutheran church.

England's Coal Stock.

It is estimated that England's stock of coal will last 200 years longer, and North America's 600 years. It is not likely, however, that these supplies will ever be needed, as it is probable that before many decades have passed power will be gained in other ways.

INTERNATIONAL RACE OF AUTOMOBILES.

French and American Machines to Be Run From Chicago to New York.

The September cup race is not to be the only international sporting contest of the present season. The proposed automobile race between an American built motor car and a horseless carriage of French construction over a course extending from Chicago to New York will be an event of almost equal interest.

Mr. Alexander Winton of Cleveland, inventor and owner of a gasoline automobile carriage, has challenged M. Ferdinand Charron, the most expert automobilist in France. There seems to be as much difficulty in settling the terms of the race as there has been in past years about the big yacht races, but it is expected that all these details will soon be amicably adjusted.

The race is scheduled to take place some time in August. The course is about 1,100 miles long and will be the longest one over which such a contest has ever taken place.

M. Charron and Mr. Winton are representative experts as well as pioneers in this new sport. Mr. Winton will use the same machine in which he recently rode from Cleveland to New York at the rate of 15 miles an hour. His French rival will drive the automobile with which he won the race from Paris to Bordeaux and back.

M. Charron is one of the foremost figures in the world of Parisian automobilism. Like most of the successful racing chauffeurs, he is a graduate from the cycle racing game and is a past grand master in the intricate art of jockeying, an accomplishment which has been of the greatest benefit to him in his progress to the top of autocar racing.

Charron was a butcher boy, but, despairing of gaining either fame or fortune in that business, he exchanged the white apron for the racing suit and was a success almost from the very beginning. For three years in succession Charron won the cycle championship of France. Then he gave up the race track and, with his championship laurels as his only capital, took charge of the Paris agency of an English bicycle concern.

At the time M. Charron embarked in his new line of business there was really only one concern in the entire world which made satisfactory automobiles, and so great was the demand for them that purchasers were content to wait more than a year after ordering and paying for their carriages before they were delivered.

M. FERDINAND CHARRON AND HIS AUTOMOBILE.

M. Charron signaled his entrance into his new field by placing an order for 1,000,000 francs' worth of autocars, thus virtually cornering the market. The result was that the manufacturers had to refuse all orders and refer would be buyers to M. Charron, who promptly advanced the price of his contracted for machines 100 per cent, sold them all prior to their delivery to him and cleared a profit by his shrewdness of more than 1,000,000 francs.

M. Charron is the premier chauffeur of France. Nothing will better exemplify this than his performance in the recent Paris-Bordeaux race, in which he did 351 miles in the unprecedented time of 11 hours and 43 minutes, or an average rate of better than 2 minutes and 30 seconds for each mile.

To meet the assertion that this wonderful performance was due to the perfection of French roads it is well to note that the event was run off during terrific wind and rain storms, and was thus far from showing what Charron might have done under ordinary or favorable conditions.

In the race M. Charron won were 65 starters—28 of whom had motor cars and 37 motor cycles. The start was made at the foot of the long hill leading to St. Cloud and Versailles.

As soon as the starting signal was given every one of the 65 motors dashed up the hill, and no sooner had the top been reached and the steep ascent beyond been undertaken than the first accident, a collision, sent one of the contestants to the hospital and put two of the vehicles out of commission. From the very beginning the struggle between Charron, De Knyff and Hourgieres was superb. Charron finally went to the front and then landed winner.

M. Charron's wonderful performance is not due altogether to the superiority of French roads, and Americans will do well not to calculate too much upon this. Of course, high speed anywhere is out of the question when the roads are not suitable, but over any kind of road, no matter whether good or bad, much depends upon the machine, jockeying and the handling, and in these Charron is without a peer.

This being the first international automobile race ever run it is probable that it will be watched with great interest and attract widespread attention. After it is over the great American public that supports such things will decide whether or not they are worthy of notice. If these races prove popular they may become as much of an institution as the cup races. FRANKLIN PRICE.

Rev. Father Thomas Mungovan preached his initial sermon at St. Patrick's church yesterday. Rev. Mungovan's theme was "The Sacred Heart of Jesus," and his effort was a remarkably able one. The young priest leaves this week for Avilla, where he will be assistant to Rev. Father Duehmig during the summer season.

The board of works has issued an order rescinding its former order forbidding tennis to be played in Swinney park and the local tennis enthusiasts are again indulging in the sport. The former order was issued for the reason that the occupants of buggies were in the habit of stopping to watch the games and blocking the roads.

In trying to stop a speedy fly at the ball grounds yesterday afternoon fourteen-year-old Louis Null, of 116 Erie street, had his right hand split for about an inch between the second and third fingers. He was assisted to the Dreier drug store and Dr. McOscar was summoned, who dressed the injury. The boy was then removed to his home.

At the services in the Third Presbyterian church last evening each member of the congregation was presented with a card which is to be filled out by them with a verse of scripture expressive of their spirit and returned at the communion service next Sunday. This is an inovation and the reading of the verses will undoubtedly be very interesting.

The St. Paul's chapter, Royal Arch Masons (colored), will give an entertainment in Liberty hall on Wednesday and Thursday. The attractions of the entertainment will be the midway and many interesting features in that line are promised. A concert will also be given in connection with the entertainment. The management have purchased a lady's and a gentleman's wheel, which are now on exhibition at the show rooms of the Randall Wheel company. These will be awarded to the most popular lady and gentleman in the society.

About forty wheelmen, members of the bicycling club and their friends, went to Robison park yesterday morning to inspect the new bicycle track which has been constructed there. Those of the party who were posted on the subject of bicycle tracks, expressed an opinion that the oval at the park will make one of the best in the state after it has been smoothed over. The track is constructed of clay, is a third of a mile in circumference and has an elevation of about six feet at the highest point. Several races will take place at the park on the Fourth, in which local racing men will take part.

This evening a meeting of the principal bicycle dealers will be held for the purpose of discussing holding a race meet here in July. These gentlemen have been working quietly for some time and have got the project well under way and they are doing much to interest the local wheelmen in the scheme. It is their intention to have the meet here on the 22d of July if possible, so as to be included in the National association circuit. In order to do this it will be necessary to put up several hundred dollars in the way of premiums. The National association includes all the principal racing men in the country and the gentlemen interested in the scheme hope to have Fort Wayne included in the circuit. A regular organization will be made soon and committees will be appointed to wait upon the principal business men in the city to interest them in the event.

BLAZE ON COLUMBIA STREET.

Fire was discovered in the rooms occupied by Mrs. Keller over the Hemphill feed barn, on East Columbia street, Sunday evening at about 5 o'clock. An alarm was turned in, to which companies 1, 3 and 4 responded, and the blaze was soon extinguished. The only damage was soaked grain and broken windows. The fire is thought to have been caused by spontaneous combustion in a heap of carpet rags in one of the rooms on the second floor. The total loss amounted to about $100, which is insured in the Schrader & Wilson agency. Officer Pageler had his right leg severely cut while kicking in one of the windows. The wounds bled profusely and it was necessary to summon a physician to dress the injury. He is unable to be on duty today.

MAY CALL DR. LEEPER.

Rev. Dr. J. L. Leeper, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian church in this city, occupied the pulpit of the First Presbyterian church at Kansas City, Mo., last evening. A dispatch from that city is to the effect that his sermon was very favorably received and it is probable a call will be extended to the Fort Wayne pastor. The pulpit is said to be a very desirable one.

Grape-Nuts

INSTINCT.

Boy Knows the Kind of Food He Needs.

A grocer in the suburbs of Chicago has a son about six years old who has been kept in the country with an aunt a goodly part of the time, owing to his puny, half lifeless condition.

This last summer when the little chap returned home, he was round, fat and hearty, but when he sat down to his father's table he refused the meat and potatoes and demanded Grape-Nuts, the ready-cooked food.

The grocer knew about Grape-Nuts, and had been selling them over his counter, but it never occurred to him to use them at his own table. It was found upon inquiry that the boy began to improve as soon as he was put on Grape-Nuts by his aunty, and that the evidence of the value of the food was shown by his condition.

It is needless to say the grocer supplied Grape-Nuts to his little boy, without further question, and the entire family have now joined the Grape-Nut army.

HEAVY LOSS BY FIRE.

At 11 o'clock Saturday evening fire was discovered in the building in the rear of the residence occupied by Dr. E. P. Banning and R. B. Rossington, used by the Banning Manufacturing company in the manufacture of surgical instruments and appliances. An alarm was immediately turned in, but when the department arrived the premises had been completely gutted. About $2,000 worth of patterns were destroyed and other instruments valued at $500 were lost. Mr. Rossington had about $200 worth of merchandise destroyed. This, with the damage to the building of $800, will make the total loss $3,500, on which there is but small insurance. Fire was discovered in a box of shavings in the rear of the barn at 6 o'clock by neighbors. This was extinguished, and it is thought that a spark was communicated to some inflammable material in the interior of the building which smouldered for some time before breaking into flames.

We hope Congressman Robinson will use his utmost endeavors to secure rural free mail delivery for Allen county. There is no section of the state where it can be attempted under more favorable auspices and none where its advantages will be more appreciated. The people in the country are entitled to these facilities just as soon as they can be provided. Rural free delivery has been successful elsewhere in Indiana and it will be successful in Allen county

A very important announcement appears in our telegraph columns today. Manna has again fallen in Palestine. Ever since the story of the Bible became matter of common knowledge there has been dispute between theologians and scientists as to the nature of the substance called manna in the Bible. The theologians cling to the description and miraculous attributes of the manna in the Bible, the scientists deny the miracle. It seems that a new discovery as to the difficult problems of the Bible are being made daily.

The suspension of the London Sunday Mail and Sunday Telegraph is a magnificent illustration of the power of the unrest efforts on the part of the Christian community for Sunday observance. When it became known that the Daily Telegraph and Daily Mail were to issue a Sunday edition a strong and united protest was made by Christians from every stratum and coming in life. Monstrous petitions were also prepared and addressed to the proprietors of these papers urging the discontinuance of the Sunday issue. After a six weeks experiment both of the Sunday papers were discontinued.

Slowly but surely the number of Jews in Palestine is increasing and it is satisfactory to hear that the Jews who return to their old country do not as a rule, resort to commerce or to trading with money but settle in agricultural colonies in the neighborhood of the towns. These Jews are mostly from Roumania, Russia, and Poland, and have been assisted to emigrate by the munificence of men like the Rothschilds and the late Baron Hirsch. Up till now twenty-two villages have been settled by Jewish colonists, some of them with a population of 2,000. They are rapidly becoming skillful vine growers, and the produce of their vines and olive and fruit gardens find ready sale in the towns of the coast. The Jews who settle in the cities are also well spoken of. They are frugal, industrious and moral, and many of them occupy responsible positions under the Turkish government, where they are able to give valuable assistance to their co-religionists.

According to the Chicago Tribune, Prof. Reginald Roberts states that constant riding in trolley cars, with the clang and bang of quick motion, combined with the unfelt but potential effect of being in a strong electric atmosphere, tends to put the nerves at a higher tension than ordinary. Many neurologists believe that this will lead to a new neurasthenic constitution characterized by a chronic impatience of slow vehicular transportation. Their idea seems to be that the operations of the mind conform to Newton's law of motion, just as materia, bodies do. A man who pursues a certain avocation with extreme vigor for a certain length of time finds that when he desires to rest his over-wrought nerves insist on maintaining the accustomed velocity of pace. Similarly a man who rides daily in a trolley car unconsciously imbibes a desire for transient haste and this expresses itself by an occurrence of the ordinary modes of travel. It seems to be a variety of the nervous disease of undue haste. Modern medical research evidently includes the discovery of new diseases as well as the discovery of new diseases new remedies and new antitoxin serums.

WASTE ON THE FARM.

Governor Mount, who is not only a good executive, but a first-class farmer as well, says that of the 80,000,000 acres of corn grown in 1897 30,000,000 acres of the 80-odd million dollars were in a measure lost. If this waste had been properly saved and the value in food for farm animals would have amounted to millions of dollars. An utter disregard of economic principles is shown by manifest in the methods of the average farmer. The wasteful method of harvesting the corn crop if pursued in any other business would result in bankruptcy.

Not long ago a closely observing man who had traveled extensively in Indiana said that the waste on farms in this state exceeded the net profits. Recently in one of the farm institutes in our state, a gentleman who had just returned from Europe, made the statement that the waste of Indiana farmers would keep the farmers in France.

"As a result of my own travels," says the Governor, "through Indiana I have become convinced that 1,000,000 more could be kept during the summer months on the pastures and fields, utilizing what would otherwise be wasted, and much of which is the source of weeds and brush, is positively hurtful to the farms. I am unable to manage any farm and obtain the largest returns without sheep."

CHOOSE OFFICERS.

Division No. 1, of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, held its annual election of officers yesterday and the following were chosen: President, Capt John H Rohan; vice-president, M. J O'Brien; recording secretary, John J. Reed; financial secretary, Patrick Ryan; treasurer, Owen Cummings; marshal, Edward Quinn. Hon. John W. O'Hara, of Peru, state president of the order, was in attendance and delivered an address in which he complimented the Fort Wayne divisions upon their prosperous condition. The division voted to hold but one meeting a month hereafter and that on the fourth Sunday. At the July meeting there will be a public installation of the officers of both divisions and of the Ladies' auxiliary.

August 28th will be the annual outing of the Hibernians at Robison park and it is hoped to make the event the largest gathering of people of Irish birth or descent ever held in Fort Wayne. The date is the anniversary of the battle of Limerick and there will be addresses by noted speakers, plenty of music and field sports, among them a series of Gaelic games.

A horse and carriage driven by O. N. Guldin, president of the Western Gas Construction company, collided with a tandem at the corner of Clinton and East Wayne streets yesterday afternoon. The riders of the tandem were H. G. Kohlinger and G. C. Chilson. Both riders were violently thrown to the ground and the horse stepped on Mr. Chilson's thigh, severely injuring him. Mr. Kohlinger was unhurt, but the tandem was totally wrecked.

ASK FOR A FREE DELIVERY.

RURAL MAIL SERVICE WANTED IN ALLEN COUNTY.

Congressman Robinson Endorses Petition From the Citizens of Perry Township.

Ninety-seven citizens of Perry township have petitioned the postoffice department for the establishing of the first free rural mail delivery service in Allen county, and their request has the cordial endorsement of Congressman Robinson. The petition was forwarded to Washington Friday. It is signed by A. C. Griffin and ninety-six other citizens and includes the territory between Gloyd postoffice and Collingwood near the DeKalb county line. The petition may serve as a guidance for people of other localities who desire to prefer a similar request, and The Sentinel here prints it in full together with Mr. Robinson's recommendation:

"Collingwood, Ind. June 6 1899

—To the Postmaster General, Washington, D. C. Dear Sir:—To the patrons of Collingwood and Gloyd postoffices, on route No. 23473, in Allen county and state of Indiana desiring to participate in the benefits of rural free delivery earnestly ask and pray for its establishment in our community for the following reasons to-wit:

"1. That as citizens of the republic we are of right entitled to it.

"2. That the productive energies of our people will be better conserved. (a) By our greater opportunities to study and to take advantage of the world's market reports. (b) That the community pays far more each year by extra patrons of said offices being compelled to secure his own mail from one to six times per week than to employ a faithful carrier to do the same for them six times per week during the year.

"3. That the mail matter will be of a higher character and a more educational character.

"4. We believe that this is a typical community in value to try the experiment. The topography of the county presents no natural obstacles to the service. Fully two-third of the roads are gravel, and none are impassible during any part of the year.

"5. Our population of twenty thousand persons assures us of average more than fifty to the square mile.

"6. The leading inducement to the use of farming implements being a few cents and tradesmen.

"Trusting that the prayer of your humble petitioners may be considered and it in the end may be shall become the beneficiaries of this service agents of government, [illegible] we are &c.

Respectfully yours,

A. C. GRIFFIN

And Ninety-six others

MR. BRYAN'S LETTER.

Fort Wayne, Ind. June 20 '99

To the Postmaster General, Washington, D. C. Dear Sir: I have received a petition from numerously signed by the patrons of the respective Rural routes, having said petition in charge I desire to say that I am in favor of the establishment of Rural Free Delivery in the county of Allen, in Allen county, Indiana. With a thorough acquaintance of the territory contained in said petition and with the approbation of the people and the character of the roads and the general situation and conditions as concerns postal facilities, I recommend the establishment of rural free delivery as prayed for in the petition, for the reason that it conforms in every degree with the requirements which have been usual in the establishment of this system, and I regard the location as an appropriate one for the establishment of the service. Allen county is the largest in the state territorially, and the second larest in population, and as there is no rural free delivery in my district I specially recommend that you establish the same at this point as one equal to the best. Yours truly,

"James M. Robinson."

Free mail delivery between Fort Wayne and the towns of the county which are not on lines of railroad would be a great advantage, and it is understood that Mr. Bleke, of St. Joseph township, is circulating a petition for the service in his neighborhood. Petitions are also pending for the service at South Whitley and at Pleasant Lake, in Steuben county.

THE ICEMAN.

His Job No Such Sinecure as the Song Writer Pictures.

BY CYRUS SYLVESTER.

The iceman has his troubles, inspired song writers to the contrary. The chief of these troubles is due to the fact that a gentle disposition and a deep respect for the criminal code prevent him from killing the man who wrote the doggerel about him and then set it to music.

The average iceman, previous to the spring of 1899, was a cheerful soul. He whistled and sang at his work, swapped jokes with the grocery boy and the cook and went his way in peace. He endured hard work, long hours and small pay without a grumble.

But today he is a changed man. He is nervous and irritable. He looks with suspicion at his old time friends. He no longer whistles as he tramps down the area steps into the basement. He is morose, sullen and taciturn.

"It's like this," said he, for I had won his confidence, "I didn't mind it for the first week or two when nobody but the smart Alecks fired it at me. There are only about so many of them in the world anyway, and I kind of thought I'd get to the end after a while. But say, it's been growing worse and worse.

"First the servant girls took it up, one after another. Then a missus or two dropped. Then perfect strangers commenced the racket, and now I don't hear much else from early in the morning until late at night.

"It don't seem to wear out. They ring in repeaters on me. Why, do you know, an old maid customer of mine that I never knew to crack a smile in ten years came down the other morning to fix the ice box for me, and as I goes out the door she shoots after me: 'How would you like to be the iceman? Te he! te-he-he!' Now wouldn't that jolt your nerves?"

The words of the first verse of the all pervading music hall outrage run as follows:

While strolling up town the other day,
Saw a brownstone mansion on my way.
I stopped to admire, 'twas simply divine,
And couldn't help wishing that it was mine.
A servant came out, then I asked of him
If Mr. Vanderbilt was in.
I thought it the house of a millionaire,
But he told me that the iceman resided there.
Then comes the chorus:

How'd you like to be the iceman?
How'd you like to be the iceman?

Now, this iceman lives in a $13 a month house which in no way resembles any of the various Vanderbilt mansions. So much for one fallacy. The second verse of the song relates that—

Each day, with his wagon loaded down
Full of ice, he starts off for the town.
At Johnson's cafe a stop he makes,
Fills up the ice box with enormous cakes.
When ready to start and move on his way,
He tells the boss, "It's hot today."
The boss, with a wink, says, "What'll it be?"
"Well, I'll have a tin roof cocktail—that just suits me."

I put the question as delicately as possible, intimating that I should think such quantities of free mixed drinks would be a great temptation to a sober man.

"Free drinks, eh?" snorted the indignant iceman. "Say, that Johnson's cafe must be on some other route. I don't drink on the house once a month. Haven't tasted a cocktail in a year. When I wants a beer I have to put up my own coin for it too."

Another bit of poetic license on the part of the song writer evidently. Perhaps the easy manner in which the iceman gets his groceries is also allegorical. The song runs this way, you remember:

The groceryman is just close by,
And the iceman leaves him his supply,
Then orders ten pounds of coffee that's ground,
Ten pounds of butter, thirty a pound,
And ten pounds of sugar, ten pounds of tea.
"How many pounds in all?" says he.
The grocer then says, "Forty pounds are there!"
"Well, here's forty pounds of ice, so that makes us square."

I had not the heart to ask the iceman if all this was true. I hinted that the popular idea seemed to be that his vocation was a pleasant and easy one.

"Oh, yes, it's a graft, nit," said the iceman, [illegible] colloquialism. "It's [illegible] on [illegible]

I only works about 16 or 17 hours. It's just healthful exercise toying with 200 pound blocks. Then look at the walking I do; a 25 mile constitutional between breakfast and supper. Of course my pay is something princely. Well, it's $2.60 per day now, but I'm expecting a cut. How'd you like to be the iceman, eh?" he asked in irony.

"It's on the house trips that I get the worst roasting. I wouldn't mind filling big ice boxes all day long, but when it comes to the back door act I wish sometimes that I had learned to be a bank president by mail.

"Some women seem to think it's their duty to take time off and sass us. I struck some of them this morning. One opened up on me like this:

"'Now, I want you to put the ice in the refrigerator yourself hereafter,' says she. 'And I want you to do it right. It'll be a sin and a shame if I have to superintend you every morning for the whole summer. All you've got to do this morning is to move the cream jug and the pitcher full of sour milk that I'm saving to make biscuits with, and the platter with the cold chicken bones and that bowl of cold asparagus and the tomatoes—pick 'em up one by one, so's not to bruise them—and that piece of lemon meringue pie—it's in a saucer—and the butter. You can just put them on the floor while you're putting the ice in, and then you can put them back on their shelves.'

"'How much ice did you say you wanted, ma'am?' says I.

"'What I always get—a nickel's worth,' says she. 'Now, take care in getting those things out and putting them back again.'

"You come along with me some morning in the tenement quarter," said the iceman to me, "and you'll see what an upholstered, curled hair sort of a snap I have."

I promised to, not meaning to do it, but I happened to meet him soon after on his rounds. He was busy, so we did not talk, but I listened. A woman hailed him from a basement window.

"Hey, you!" she called in that severe tone which some people think it is proper to use in addressing inferiors. "How much is ice today?"

"Forty cents a hundred, ma'am," said the iceman.

"Thieves!" exclaimed the woman, and she shortly came out with a huge dishpan in both hands.

"Now, you give me the biggest piece you've got in that wagon for 5 cents—enough to fill this pan—none of your skimpy little pieces," she said in a breath.

The iceman deposited a piece of ice of the usual nickel proportions in the bottom of the dishpan. The woman continued to hold the pan out expectantly.

"Do you call—have you the impudence to call this a nickel's worth of ice?" asked the woman, trying to fix the iceman's wandering eye.

"There's a good 15 pounds there, ma'am, and that's more than"—

"Take your old ice!" exclaimed the woman, and she incontinently dumped

THE ICEMAN GOING TO HIS WORK.
[As the song writer pictures him.]

the hunk of ice out of the dishpan on to the asphalt pavement and strode into her house with her head up.

Just then an organ grinder came around the corner. Some subtle premonition of danger prompted me to move slowly away from the scene. As I rounded the nearest corner I heard the tump, tumpy tump as he began to grind out the familiar melody, "How'd You Like to Be the Iceman?" Then I was glad I left when I did.

FORMER SPEAKERS OF CONGRESS

Of the 33, From Muhlenberg to Reed, Four Were Great.

BY JOHN F. WILLOUGHBY.

THERE have been 33 speakers of the house of representatives. General Henderson, if a political earthquake does not occur, will be the thirty-fourth. Of the 33 who have gone before, the names of only four will be recalled by the average man. These four are Henry Clay, James G. Blaine, Samuel J. Randall and Thomas B. Reed.

Each one of this great quartet of speakers left his individual impress on congress and United States history. Many of the others, whose names have been forgotten, were able men, but on the memory of the past their names do not stand out as do those of Clay, Blaine, Randall and Reed.

The first speaker of the house was Frederick A. C. Muhlenberg of Pennsylvania. He was a brother of Peter Muhlenberg, who at the beginning of the Revolution announced to his congregation of German Virginians at Woodstock from his pulpit at the close of a sermon:

"There is a time for all things—a time to preach and a time to pray—but there is also a time to fight, and that time has now come."

Suiting his action to his words, he threw off his gown and stood arrayed in the uniform of a Continental colonel, his commission having been given him by Washington.

Frederick Muhlenberg was speaker of the house in the First and Third congresses, and his brother was a member of the same house in both congresses.

The second speaker of the house was Jonathan Trumbull of Connecticut, son of that Jonathan Trumbull who was governor of Connecticut during the Revolution and was the chosen friend and counselor of Washington. In fact, the epithet "Brother Jonathan," now applied as a personification of the United States, owes its origin to Washington's habit of addressing Governor Trumbull and to the phrase he often used when perplexed:

"Let us hear what Brother Jonathan says."

Unless you have been a very careful student of the political history of your country the names of the speakers intervening between Trumbull and Clay will be wholly unfamiliar to you. There came in succession Jonathan Dayton of New Jersey, Theodore Sedgwick of Massachusetts, Nathaniel Macon of North Carolina and Joseph B. Varnum of Massachusetts.

The office of speaker was not so important during those early years of the republic as it is today, and the man who occupied the chair was often but little known.

"And who is James K. Polk?" sneeringly asked a Clay supporter after Polk had been nominated for president. His hearers, many of them, sincerely echoed the question. Yet Polk had already served two terms as speaker of the house of representatives.

It was not until the Twelfth congress that the first really great speaker appeared. This was Clay. He was the only man ever chosen speaker on the day he took his seat as a member of the house. He was elected offhand and served longer than any speaker before or since. His record will be a hard one to beat.

Henry Clay was the first man to give the office of speaker much of the potency it has today, and he was the first speaker who was also the leader of his party at the same time. His influence upon legislation was greater than that of any man who had preceded him. To

FREDERICK A. C. MUHLENBERG.
[First speaker of congress.]

Clay, more than any man, was due the creation of the hostile feeling toward England which led to the war of 1812.

Unlike the speaker in these days, Clay did not confine himself to the mere work of presiding, but left the chair and participated in the debate upon the floor of the house.

Following Clay, there were John W. Taylor of New York, Philip P. Barbour and Andrew Stevenson of Virginia, John Bell of Tennessee and then James K. Polk.

James L. Orr of South Carolina was speaker of the house when his state [illegible] from the Union.

William Pennington of New Jersey was elected speaker of the Thirty-sixth congress after an eight weeks' contest. This was the contest in which John Sherman was the Republican nominee for speaker and came within three votes of being elected.

It was during this struggle that Thaddeus Stevens assured Mr. Sherman that he would vote for him until the crack of doom. When the rush to Pennington came about, Stevens was the leader in bringing about the change in candidates. Sherman went to him and said:

"Stevens, you said you would vote for me until the crack of doom."

"So I did, Sherman, so I did, but I thought I heard her crack."

The speaker of the first war congress was Galusha A. Grow of Pennsylvania. He was a man of ability, and would undoubtedly have continued in that office if he had been returned to the Thirty-eighth congress, but he was not. At the close of his services as speaker Grow received a unanimous vote of thanks, the first of the kind given to any speaker in many years.

Then came Schuyler Colfax of Indiana, who, after serving three terms as speaker, was elected vice president. Colfax was succeeded by the second great speaker, James G. Blaine. During his six years in the speakership Blaine achieved some of the most brilliant triumphs ever gained in that office. His knowledge of parliamentary law, his close acquaintance with the political history of the country and with the record of its statesmen, past and contemporaneous, his power as an orator and his great personal popularity among men of all parties enabled him to add to the glories which he had gained by his six years' previous service in the house.

After Blaine came Randall, greatest of the Democratic speakers. He was the most influential man on his side of the house during the days of his speakership and for years afterward. During the excitement over the disputed count of presidential votes in the Hayes-Tilden contest, which occurred in the first year of his speakership, he contributed largely toward bringing about an orderly adjustment of the controversy.

J. Warren Keifer of Ohio and John G. Carlisle of Kentucky followed Randall and then began the long rule of the man from Maine who earned for himself the title of "czar."

There is no one who does not know that Reed was the first man to count a quorum, but perhaps some may have forgotten the epigram which marked the first application of his new rules. Speaker Reed had announced that a quorum was present when McCreary of Kentucky rose to ask:

"Did you count me, Mr. Speaker?"

Mr. Reed nodded impatiently.

"How do you know I am present?" insisted the Kentuckian.

"Does the gentleman deny that he is here?" drawled Reed, at which the house roared.

General Henderson will be the first speaker chosen from west of the Mississippi. Whether he is to be one of the great speakers who are remembered or one of the ordinary ones who are forgotten remains to be seen.

A Unique Fiddle.

A violin manufactured during his leisure moments by Mr. Slaughter of Montrose, Mo., is unique in design and in the material from which it was constructed. The back of the instrument is cherry, from a table that Mr. Slaughter purchased from the Howard-Payne college more than 35 years ago, and is probably more than a century old. In the center of the back of the instrument he inserted 21 different pieces from the Holy Land, one being a grapevine that grew in the garden of Gethsemane.

Around the margin is set a row of small pieces of wood in the shape of diamonds. These little pieces of wood have been gathered from all over the civilized world, and Mr. Slaughter has been years in gathering them. In one end of the back is a horseshoe made of castor wood, and in the other end is the image of a rabbit carved in cherry, and there are in all over 150 different pieces of wood. The only tools Mr. Slaughter used were a pocketknife and a half inch chisel.—St. Louis Republic.

A Slow Fire.

Mrs. Crummet—Cook books are so unreliable.

Mrs. Cruller—I know it.

Mrs. Crummet—It said the eggs should be cooked over a slow fire. I followed directions. The result was that the eggs hatched. The book ought to have said that it would not do to have a fire too slow.

"You don't seem to be on very friendly terms with your brother."

"No, sir, I'm not."

"What did he ever do to you?"

"Do to me! Sir, that brother of mine is two years younger than I am, and yet by the time he was 5 years of age he had the audacity to so far outgrow me that from that time on until we both left the parental roof his clothes were cut down for me instead of mine being cut down for him."—Chicago Post.

GROWTH OF TRAVELING LIBRARIES.

How the Movement Has Spread Through the South and West.

BY ANNETTE CRAWFORD.

While the traveling library movement is by no means new, its development during the last two or three years has been most rapid and interesting. In many parts of the south and west this scheme of circulating good books in districts which are remote from public libraries and bookstores is now being operated with great success.

The traveling library system of Georgia is a type. It was organized by Mrs. Eugene B. Heard, who is also president of the Seaboard Air Line Village Improvement association. At a recent meeting of the American Library association in Atlanta Mrs. Heard made an interesting report of her work.

She began in a small way at her own home in Rose Hill, Middleton county. There were very few books in the village besides those owned by Mrs. Heard. She wished that more of her neighbors would read. She began by lending her own volumes.

From various sources she increased her stock and made plans for a wider and more systematic distribution of books. She put the books into small lots of 15 or 20 volumes each. These she packed in neat boxes, suitably labeled, and found means of sending them to persons in nearby villages. When all the books had been read, the case was returned and another one sent in its place.

Since then the impetus given to her effort by the free transportation granted by express companies and railroads has enabled her to send the boxes in all directions. Quantities of books have been given, and the rooms at Rose Hill, which were used as a distributing headquarters, are now overcrowded.

The village of Middleton is now considering the erection of a building especially designed for a library, and it is proposed to provide an assistant for Mrs. Heard, who is devoting herself, without recompense of any material kind, to this work.

"I am glad to do it," she says. "Before I went into this work I felt that there were books too precious to be handled, that many of mine were too good to be lent to anybody. Now, I know that nothing is too good for the poorest reader, and I never send out a box that I do not try to put in some of my choicest volumes."

Mrs. Heard was for three years chairman of the library committee of the Georgia State Federation of Woman's Clubs. She was one of five library commissioners of the state, appointed by Governor Atkinson. It was through the influence of the women of the federation that she first took up the work, and having entered upon it she labored continuously. Through her intercession the co-operation of the railway lines was secured.

TRAVELING LIBRARY IN A VIRGINIA TOWN.

The states to which books are sent are the five seaboard states—Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia and Florida. Mrs. Heard said that the greatest call is made for educational books, and of these all that are on child study and household economics are popular.

From the country women there is a special demand for cookbooks of all kinds and volumes containing labor saving suggestions. Magazines and all periodicals are thankfully received. Many are sent as gifts direct from the publisher. Old numbers of any periodicals are also found interesting by the readers in far away places, where few books are to be had. If these back numbers are of successive months, they are the more valuable.

Wherever she hears of an opportunity to establish one of the village improvement clubs Mrs. Heard goes to the place to organize it. The traveling library was first taken up as a supplementary work to that of the village improvement association.

In much the same way the traveling library movement has spread in other states. In nearly every case enterprising and public spirited women have done the work.

The same scheme for traveling libraries has even been adopted in Chicago, where small boxes of books are distributed among the homes in the poorer quarters of the city.

The hostler essayed to kiss the house maid.

She coyly stepped aside.

"Stand still!" he exclaimed.

Which is not the way, as he found to curry favor with the fair sex.

THE NEGLIGEE SHIRT.

With fond satisfaction we're hailing
Return of the negligee shirt,
Whose bosom with starch is ne'er stiffened,
Whose collar lies low and inert.
It may not be what is called "dressy,"
But not an iota we care,
For comfort is what we're now seeking
In things that we eat, drink and wear.

At last we are free from discomfort
Of bosom as stiff as a board,
Which held us erect as the armor
That in the old times turned a sword.
No more by long cuffs are we bothered,
The kind that encircled our fists,
For negligee sleeves we're now wearing,
And they only come to the wrists.

No more are we worried by collars
In which our poor necks were long cooped
And by which we nearly were strangled
Each time we unthinkingly stooped.
Our heads we are now freely turning
In any direction we please
Without making quick revolution
Or swinging around by degrees.

The broad silken scarfs we've discarded
For others of much smaller size,
And now round our necks we are wearing
The narrow and neat little ties.
The shirt studs we fumbled so often
Until we were red in the face
Have gone, and the old fashioned buttons
Are back in the time honored place.

When hot waves rush in and assail us,
'Tis comfort all mortals desire,
And that is just what we are finding
In making this change of attire.
Though some will declare it's not "dressy,"
Remarks of such critics don't hurt
Our feelings, for gladly we're hailing
Return of the negligee shirt.

DWIGHT'S FAREWELL SERMON

His Baccalaureate Sunday, Delivered on the Fiftieth Anniversary of His Own Graduation.

New Haven, Conn., June 26.—President Timothy Dwight, the venerable retiring president of Yale university, Sunday preached his last baccalaureate sermon before the graduating classes of the academic and scientific departments. The occasion was also the fiftieth anniversary of President Dwight's own graduation. Many of his old classmates were in the chapel. The graduating class occupied the greater part of the body of the Battel chapel. All of them wore the academic robe, and with them were many visitors from out of town. President Dwight's address was largely of a retrospective and personal nature. At the close of the sermon President Dwight addressed a valediction in the most solemn and impressive manner, his voice often choking with emotion. His words were:

"And now, my fellow students, and may I not almost say my classmates of the class of 1899, let me ask you to rise. The words which I have spoken to you have had a very personal meaning. So much of the pesonal was there in them that they may have seemed more adapted to a friendly conversation than to be presented to you in a large public gathering. But the occasion must be the reason for giving them to you here. I can scarcely find it possible to speak to you in any other way. You are, with me, leaving the university. You and I go forth together; you the younger brothers and I an older. But we are all of us going forth into a great and glorious brotherhood. Fifty years separate us in point of graduation, but in this brotherhood that is no separation, for we all are members of a great college home. You stand, indeed, at the end of your college careers with much faithful spirit, much of energy and with many pleasant anticipations. But for me the summer day has passed into the late afternoon. For you it is still morning.

"I have tried to speak to you of what life teaches and of that loving Father who orders our life's movements for us. I have not told you anything of sorrow and of disappointment. They will meet many of you and some of you possibly many times. The costs and the results of them you alone will know. But you will find, as the years go by, that they are helpful to the upbuilding and to the glorification of the soul within you, and that the divine Father, if you trust thus to His undying care, is ever leading you out of darkness into the sunshine of His love. When the clouds of the summer day pass away they leave the sky the brighter.

"I wish for each of you life's greatest blessings, its greatest happiness and the best it can give you. I wish you joy and that your sorrows may be scanty. May they, as for God's children, work out your entire good and give you evidence that you are under His care and keeping. I wish for you that faith in Christ the expression and the sign of the Father's love. I wish for you to lose every doubt, every questioning fear, every weakness and sin that your life may be full and abounding.

"And so I bid you farewell. May the long summer day and the sunset hour at the end of it be filled with beautiful light, and may the closing twilight season bear thoughts and hopes of the better and the happier life beyond. May your testimony and mine unite together as it comes from our personal experience in the words of the psalmist's song about our loving God and Father who "Maketh the outgoings of the morning and evening to rejoice."

Tooth-Pulling by Proxy.

The sultan of Turkey is most inquisitive as to what is said and written about him abroad. Every day translations are laid before him from the newspapers of the world, and these are all closely persued. His majesty is a bad hand at suffering. At one time he wanted to have an aching tooth removed and dared not. Eight slaves had molars drawn out in his presence that he might have an opportunity of judging the extent of suffering entailed, and finally the sultan decided that he would rather bear the pain than undergo such an ordeal.

High Altitudes and Health.

Scientific journals are bestowing great praise upon a book by Prof. A. L. Herrara of Mexico, which recently won the Hodgkins prize of the Smithsonian Institution. Prof. Herrara treats of the effects of high altitudes on life, particularly as illustrated by the valley of Mexico, whose elevation is 7,350 feet above sea level. He upsets some old notions, and shows that residence at a high altitude and "baths of rarefied air" conduce to health and longevity, especially in the case of tuberculosis.

FIGHT AMONG INDIANS.

Vancouver, B. C., June 26.—Three rival factions of an Indian community at Port Essington had a bloody fight last Saturday. The steamer Princess Louise brought the news here and many of the Indians who took part in the fight came with her. A few weeks ago the Indians encamped at Essington went on a strike in the salmon fishing business. A corps of Salvation Army arrived shortly afterwards and commenced to hold revival services. These were very popular for some time, and the Methodist and Church of England missionaries then decided they would imitate the example of the Salvationists, so that soon they had the camp about equally divided among them. This condition of affairs resulted in a serious riot on Saturday in which many Indians were injured but none killed.

BAN IS PLACED ON UNIONISM.

Hartford City, Ind., June 26.—What is believed to be the beginning of a strike in the non-union bottle factories of this city was begun yesterday. Five blowers at the plant of the Hartford City Flint Glass company were discharged, as it was known that the men had become members of the Flint Glass Workers' union and were enlisting others in the cause. S. C. Stancliffe, of Elwood, a member of the executive committee of the flint union, has been here several days working in the interest of the union. He states that 80 per cent. of the flintware is made by union workers and that it is the intention to unionize all the non-union plants in Indiana before the movement closes.

GREATER ARTILLERY FORCE.

Washington, June 26.—The war department has become impressed with the necessity of increasing the efficiency of the artillery force on duty in the Philippines. There are already a large number of batteries in the archipelago doing duty as infantry, but there is a movement on foot to furnish them with guns adapted to use in that country and the department is now engaged in a series of experiments to determine the most effective form of light gun for use against the insurgents.

MARSHAL IS ACCUSED.

Anderson, Ind., June 26.—Last December Charles Barlow was locked up one night in the jail in Summitville. The building was found enveloped in flames at midnight and the prisoner was burned alive. His heirs brought a $25,000 action against the city of Summitville and Marshal Pat Hannon. In the complaint, among other things, is preferred the charge of foul play. Hannon was arrested on that charge, it being claimed he and the prisoner were enemies.

CUP DEFENDER AGROUND.

Bristol, R. I., June 26.—During an attempt to warp the Columbia out from her wharf to an anchorage in the bay, the yacht went aground and stuck fast in the mud. A tug was called upon for assistance, but the effort to move the Columbia was unsuccessful. The tide was going down steadily, and it was apparent that further effort would be useless, and it was decided to let the sloop rest until high water. A line was run from the topmast to the pier to keep the boat steady, and later a gang of carpenters and painters were taken out to continue the work which has been going on in the interior of the boat. The Columbia is apparently on a soft bed, but it is difficult to determine how deeply she is in the mud.

NEWARK AT VALPARAISO.

Santiago de Chili, June 26.—The United States cruiser Newark, commanded by Capt. C. F. Goodrich, has arrived at Valparaiso.

The Newark left Montevideo for Valparaiso May 17th and her captain was instructed to make quick passage as it was expected the cruiser would be needed at Samoa. Her arrival June 12th, at Port Low, Gaucaneck Island, on the west coast of Patagonia, was reported, nd it was added that she had encountered severe storms in the straights of Magellan. The Newark having run short of coal, theChilian government dispatched the gunboat Pisagua with 200 tons of coal to Port Low to supply the cruiser and enable her to continue her voyage to Valparaiso.

THE KHALIFA HEMMED IN.

Cairo, Egypt, June 26.—Deserters who have reached the British lines say the khalifa is confined in a narrow valley by the Tagallas, a friendly body of tribesmen. The latter claim to have killed five hundred of the khalifa's followers during the recent engagement. It is not thought likely the Tagallas will be able to capture the khalifa.

THE BOSTON BLOOMERS

Will Play at the Fort Wayne Ball Park June 28.

The Boston Bloomers, champion lady base ball players of the world, will arrive in the city June 28 and give an exhibition with the Shamrocks. The Bloomer girls do not expect to draw crowds entirely on account of the novelty of being female players, but really put up a creditable exhibition of the national game. They travel in a private palace car and carry a canvass fence for enclosing the grounds, a grand stand with a seating capacity of 2,000 and everything necessary to give a first-class exhibition. They have toured all the western states, and have everywhere received good notices from the press, not only for their good base ball playing, but also for their ladylike behavior. 23-4t

WABASH RAILWAY HOSPITAL DAMAGED.

LIGHTNING, FIRE AND WATER

CAUSE A LOSS OF $2,000 TO ASSOCIATION.

OLD BOILERMAKER RETIRES

WILLIAM CHERRY RETIRES AFTER THIRTY YEARS.

Lightning, fire and water combined in causing a loss of about $2,000 to the Wabash Railway Employes' association last Saturday morning, when the cupola on top of the hospital building at Peru was struck by lightning. The electric current struck the top of the tower, running down one of the octagon sides and knocking the slate roof off. Immediately after the stroke, fire broke out in the dome and for awhile threatened to destroy the building. The lightning also destroyed the telephone apparatus in the hospital and it was necessary to send a man to a neighboring house to telephone to the fire department. Considerable time was thus consumed and when the department arrived at the hospital the interior of the dome was a mass of flame. The firemen suceeded in extinguishing the fire in a short time but all the water thus used fell back into the building, dripping down through the ceilings of the rooms below and causing much more damage than did the lightning and the fire. The loss is fully covered by insurance.

FREIGHT AGENTS RETURN.

All the local freight agents who attended the annual meeting of the National Freight Agents' association at Norfolk, Va., have returned home and report having had one of the most profitable and pleasant meetings in the history of the association. There was a great volume of business transacted and much of it was important. C. H. Newton, of the Wabash, was re-elected treasurer of the association, which attests to the confidence reposed in him by his fellow agents. The agents were highly entertained at the various places visited, particularly at the navy yards. Mr. Newton was accompanied by his kodak, and took several pictures of objects of interest, notably the Spanish ship Reina Mercedes, which is now at Portsmouth being repaired and fitted for service. He also got pictures of the Puritan and Terror, two vessels that were prominently connected with the recent war with Spain.

WILLIAM CHERRY RESIGNS.

The many friends of William Cherry will be surprised to learn that he has retired from his position in the Pittsburg boiler shop, where he has been employed for thirty years. Mr. Cherry had this move in contemplation for several months, but he said nothing to any of his shopmates about it and they will learn of his retirement for the first time when they read this item. Mr. Cherry is an excellent workman and a pleasant shopmate, and his retirement will be regretted by the men generally.

MADE GOOD TIME.

The Portland Daily Commercial of last Friday says: "R. G. Thompson, passenger agent of the Wabash railroad, was on the Grand Rapids and Indiana train No. 4 this forenoon, it being about six hours late, and tells of a very fast run between Fort Wayne and Decatur. One mile was covered in fifty-four seconds, which made the speed 66.7 miles an hour. The train consisted of six cars, three of them being heavy sleepers."

EXCUSION FROM THE WEST.

The Wabash brought in 462 people from Lafayette and intermediate points yesterday. Most of the visitors came to enjoy a day at Robison park, and they were not disappointed, for the park was never more pretty and more inviting than yesterday. The cities of Lafayette and Wabash furnished fully three-fourths of the crowd, the railway company being obliged to put on three more cars at the latter place.

WRECK AT INWOOD.

Westbound freight train No. 81, on the Pitsburg, got three cars off the tracks at Inwood, causing delay to the train of an hour or two. The Plymouth wreck crew was called to the scene.

THE ROME CITY PICNIC.

The pleasure of the shopmen's picnic at Rome City last Saturday was considerably marred by bad weather. It continued to rain there until 11:30 o'clock and it was not until 2:30 that the grounds were dry enough for the children to play upon and the most of the time at the resort was spent in the buildings. The theatrical performance, which was to take place in the grove, was given on a stage that had hastily been erected at the depot and the spectators witnessed the various acts from beneath the shed roofs. Those who went for the purpose of fishing were prepared for wet weather and they report fine sport and plenty of fish. Taken as a whole, however the picnic was an enjoyable affair and those who attended it say they had a good time.

REMEMBERED THE DEPARTED.

The Ladies' Auxiliary and the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen decorated the graves of their departed members yesterday. There was no elaborate program, the ladies and the gentlemen simply gathering at the cemetery and placing fresh flowers upon each grave.

BRIDGE DAMAGED.

A prairie fire yesterday came near destroying a bridge on the Pittsburg road that spans one of the numerous ditches in the Kankekee marshes. Section men discovered the flames in time to save the company any serious loss. A few ties were burned out but trains were not delayed.

W. H. Smith, a machinist who recently accepted a position in the Bass shops, resigned last Saturday. He has been offered a position in the factory of Aultman, Taylor & Co., of Massillon, Ohio, where he was formerly employed.

Clyde Whiteleather has quit his position in the Pittsburg blacksmith shop, the work being too hard for him. Mr. Whiteleather was ill with typhoid fever while in the government service and has not fully recovered his strength.

Al. Bradley, a coppersmith and tinner, who served an apprenticeship in the Fort Wayne shops and later worked there as a journeyman for several years, is now comfortably located in California, where he is employed in the shops of the Missouri Pacific.

There is an enormous quantity of wool to be shipped from the northwestern states, especially Idaho and Utah, which is to be shipped to Boston, and it is said that an army of soliciting freight agents are in that field to secure the business.

George E. McKenzie, one of the best known ticket brokers in the country, has decided to retire from business and move to San Diego, Cal During the past twenty-five years he has been in business and his profits from it, added to the returns from fortunate investments, will enable him to live a life of leisure in the future if he wishes to do so. WINONA HAPPENINGS.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

Rev. E. S Miller, of Greenwood, Ind., has arrived.

Mrs. Hays and daughter, of Grand Forks, N. D., arived Saturday.

Rev. Dr. Burroughs, ex-president of Wabash college, is here for the summer.

Since the electric lights have been turned on many parties from Warsaw take advantage of the lovely evenings in the beautiful park.

E. H. Kemper McComb and bride, of Bucyrus, Ohio, will spend the summer at the park. Mr. McComb was here in 1896 and decided that when the happy event took place this would be the ideal place to spend his honeymoon.

The biological station boys have organized base ball teams. The upper building are the "Bugs," and the lower the "Flowers." Their first game was called at 2 p. m. Saturday. The "Flowers" were out, but on account of the rain the "Bugs" took to cover, and the exciting contest will probably take place today.

The students, cottagers and guests of the hotels held a most enthusiastic meeting at the auditorium last week relative to the program of Winona's great Fourth of July celebration. The Indiana university boys organized a base ball team to be known as "The Winonians." As it now looks that crack team from Fort Wayne, "The Standards," will have to do some hard work to take the honors away from the park.

THE MARKETS.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET.

Chicago, June 26.—Wheat was weak today on a rather small amount of trading. There was an almost entire absence of support and the continued heavy domestic receipts were taken advantage of by bear traders to depress prices. September opened ¼c lower at 74¼@74⅜c. During the first half hour's trading the price declined slowly but steadily, reaching 73⅞c before the turn came. At the decline there was some buying by shorts and against puts, causing a rally to 74¼c. The reaction was short-lived and before 11 o'clock September had touched 73¾c.

Minneapolis and Duluth receipts were 961 cars, against 848 last week and 89 a year ago. Chicago receipts were 155 cars, 7 of contract grade. A visible increase of about a million bushels was looked for.

Corn was slow and weak, the chief influence being the enormous receipts, 1,091 cars. Cables were slightly lower, and the weather was favorable. Not much long corn was forced out by the decline, however. September opened ⅛c lower at 34 cents, declined to 33⅞c and reacted to 33¼c.

Oats were quiet and fairly steady, considering the weakness of other grain markets. There was a fairly good cash demand, and this supported the speculative market.

Receipts were heavy, 373 cars. September opened ¼c lower at 21¾ @21⅜c, and advanced to 21½c.

Provisions were weak on the large hog receipts and lower yard prices.

Selling was general, though not heavy. September pork opened 2½c lower at $8.32½, declined to $8.27½ and reacted to $8.30.

September lard opened a shade lower at $5.12½@5.15 and declined to $5.10@5.12½.

September ribs, 2½c lower at $4.82½.

DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, June 26.—The railroads were the features of the opening market today. New York Central rising 1¾c on the reported lease of the Boston & Albany.

There were sympathetic advances in Northwestern, Union Pacific preferred, and Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis, ranging from ⅞c to 1¾c. Reading preferred, Northern Pacific and Atchison preferred also rose sharply. Sugar gained 1¼c, while Federal Steel preferred, which was quoted ex-dividend, dropped ¼c.

Large buying of the standard railroad stocks developed, the Vanderbilts and grangers making pronounced gains.

Some of the specialties were well supported, but pressure against Steel and Wire, Brooklyn Transit, Sugar and Metropolitan obscured the rise in this division and realization followed. Resistance was shown by railways, but concessions were eventually made. Manipulation in Sugar caused a rebound to $1.54½ and the general market hardened sympathetically. New York Central, Northwest and Union Pacific rose to advances of 1¼c to 3c and New Haven stiffened 3½c on bids.

London orders for the international group were large and the entire list was benefited by this absorption. Renewed efforts, however, against the specialties checked the success of the bulls and there were declines of from 1 to 3½ points in the Tobacco stocks, Sugar, Brooklyn Transit, Manhattan and Metropolitan Street Railway. Losses in the railways were under a point except in Omaha and New York Central.

Sales of stocks to noon, 311,735 shares.

Bonds were well sustained on a moderate demand.

The longest word in the English language is "Proantitransubstantionist," a jointed word of twenty-eight letters. "Transubstantiationableness" is the next longest

Spending Money.

The average woman who scrimps to buy clothes and gets old over lack of money is apt to gnash her teeth over the coin richer women throw away The majority of women are lucky if they have $300 or $400 a year to spend on themselves. There are at least a dozen women in New York who have $75,000 a year for mere pin money, their dress bills being a separate account.

Geese with "Shoes."

From the middle of September until Nov. 1st immense flocks of geese are driven into the famous goose market in the suburbs of Prague. As the geese are driven in from long distances they are shod"; that is to say, walked repeatedly over patches of tax mixed with fine sand. This forms a hard crust on the feet of the geese, and they, thus shod, are able to cover immense distances without fatigue.

Minute Statistics.

Blonde hair is finer than that of any other color. By actual count it has been ascertained that 400 hairs to the square inch grow upon the head of a blonde beauty. The brown comes next with 350, then comes the black with 325, and the red with 250 or 260. After counting the hairs growing on an inch square it has been estimated that on the head of a blonde there will be about 149,000 hairs, while a brown suit of tresses will have 109,000, a black 102,000 and a red 90,000.

A Battle Will Be Fought.

Nothwithstanding the settled tradition of the "Hausfrau," Germany bids fair to be the field on which the great battle of women's rights will be fought out to its bitter end. The League of Women's Associations is growing day by day more powerful, and the influence of its 24,000 members makes itself felt even in the reichstag. In Bavaria, Wurtemberg, Hesse and Saxe-Weimar the appointment of female sanitary inspectors has been secured, and this is pretty certain to be followed by like success in Prussia, where the state orphanages of Berlin are henceforth to have a certain proportion of women on the official staff.

THE PERFECT EYE!

It Requires the Careful Attention of a Skillful Eye Specialist to Keep it So!

When one realizes that the Eye is the most delicate organ of the body, it seems but natural that the making of optical instruments, lenses, etc., should be, as it is, the most delicate art known to human skill. J. L. SIEVERT, of 85 Calhoun street, this city, is the most skilled and widely experienced optician in Eastern Indiana Mr. Sievert learned the optical business under the world's leading optician, and has had wide experience in some of the largest cities in the country. He spent five years in St. Louis, two years in Chicago, several years in Northeastern Indiana, in which time he has proved himself to be one of the nation's experts in this kind of work. He can show hundreds of testimonials from leading people and physicians in different parts of the country as well as this part of the state, verifying this statement. He tests each eye separately and makes and grinds his glasses by actual measurements to fit each eye, and has made some most remarkable cures after (so-called) specialists had failed. With his long experience, his practical and superior knowledge, and all his instruments of the latest improved, enables him to give absolute accuracy in every case. In the matter of glasses, it is quite as important to have them made by an expert optician as to have the body treated physically and prescribed for by an experienced doctor; yet how few there are who realize the necessity of having their eyes fitted by those whose years of practical knowledge renders them capable of giving perfect satisfaction.

Consultation or advice can be had absolutely free, personally or by letter, at his office, at any time. The fact that he makes no charges for a scientific test and uses no medicine in testing, also that his prices for glasses are very reasonable, places him at once in the lead in popularity with the people.

MRS. KATHERINE A. TINGLEY

At Masonic Temple Tomorrow Evening—Free Entertainment.

Mrs. Katherine A. Tingley, the leader and head of the Universal Brotherhood movement, is coming to Fort Wayne and will hold a meeting on Tuesday evening, June 27th, at the Masonic Temple. Her purpose is to arouse public interest to the importance of the movement, which brings truth, light and liberation to distressed humanity. Mrs. Tingley is on her way back to New York from Point Loma, California, where was held the second congress of the Universal Brotherhood. The congress was largely attended by delegates and representatives from nearly every country, representing the different races of humanity. The interest and enthusiasm awakened in the work at the congress were unbounded. The people of the Pacific coast caught the spirit of this movement for humanity and attended the congress in large numbers.

On her return from Point Loma Mrs. Tingley held meetings at the principal cities and everywhere was received with great kindness and good will.

All are invited to attend her meetings. No charge for admission. Mrs. Tingley is a speaker of great power. She appeals to the heart. Indeed, she teaches the "Heart Doctrine." Messrs. Pierce, Patterson, Dunlop and Cramp, also Mrs. Alice Cleather, accompany Mrs. Tingley. All are devoted to the cause and very interesting speakers. Excellent music will be a feature of the occasion.

All who desire real enjoyment, who wish to see a reconciliation between contending elements which should work without friction as in a common cause, who have faith in the teachings and example of Christ, should attend the meeting. Every great movement in the world has been misunderstood by a large number of people. This movement until recently has experienced the same fate of others. Let it be understood and forever that "The Universal Brotherhood" teaches the doctrines which Christ taught—love of God and love of your neighbor; in other words, universal brotherhood.

Let Fort Wayne do herself full justice by receiving the leader of this great move ment in the true spirit.

General Otis Reports on the Situation in the Philippines.

SAYS PEOPLE OPPOSE INSURGENTS.

Holds a Large Area of Territory---The Advent of the Rainy Season Prevents Active Campaign---Many Soldiers are sick.

Washington, June 26.—General Otis, in reply to a cable from the war department asking for information regarding the situation and conditions in the Philippines, today cabled a long reply, as follows:

"Manila, June 26.—Adjutant General, Washington:—Rainy season. Little inland campaigning possible in Luzon. We occupy large portion of Tagalog country, lines stretching from Imus south to San Fernando, nearly sixty miles, and to eastward into Laguna province. Insurgent armies have suffered great losses and are scattered; only large force held together about four thousand in Tarlac province and northern Pamainga. Their scattered forces in hands of fifty to five hundred in other portions of Luzon; in Cavite and Baangas provinces could assemble possibly two thousand, though demoralized from recent defeats; mass of people terrorized by insurgent soldiers, desire peace and American protection; no longer flee on approach of our troops unless forced by insurgents, but gladly welcome them; no recent burning of towns; population within our lines becoming dense, taking up land cultivation extensively; kept out of Manila as much as possible, as city population becoming too great to be cared for.

"Natives southeast of Luzon combining to drive out insurgents; only hope insurgent leaders is United States aid.

"They proclaim near overthrow of present administration, to be followed by their independence and recognition by the United States. This is the influence they hold out; much contention prevails among them and no civil government remains; trade with ports not in our possession, former source insurgent revenue, now interdicted; not certain of wisdom of this policy, as people in those ports are without supply of food and merchants suffering losses; meditate restoring trade privileges, although insurgents reap benefits. Courts here in successful operation under direction of able Filipinos.

"Affairs in other islands comparatively quiet, awaiting results in Luzon. All anxious for trade and repeated calls for American troops received. Am giving attention to Jolie archipelago and Palawan islands. Our troops have worked to limit of endurance. Volunteer organizations have been called in; replaced by regulars, who now occupy salient positions. Nebraska, Pennsylvania and Utah now taking transports and Sixth infantry sent to Negros to relieve California. These troops in good physical condition; sickness among troops has increased lately, due mostly to arduous service and climatic influences. Nothing alarming. Of the 12 per cent. of the command reported sick, nearly 6 per cent. in general hospital, of whom 3 per cent. have typhoid and 17 malarial fevers; 25 per cent. have intestinal trouble; remaining 55 per cent. have various ailments, fourteen of which due to wound injuries. Many officers and men who served in Cuba break under recurrence of Cuban fever, and regular regiments lately received are inadequately officered. Otis."

The inadequacy of the number of officers mentioned in the last part of the above cablegram has been remedied by the sailing of the transports Zealandia and Sheridan, carrying a number of officers for regiments in the Philippines.

Adjutant General Corbin says that all officers belonging to regiments in the Philippines who are not absent on account of a surgeon's certificate are under orders to join their regiments at once. Forty-four have sailed on the recent transports going to Manila.

Secretary Alger said today that no action will be taken for the enlargement of the army or sending troops to reinforce General Otis until the return of President McKinley. He also said that General Wheeler would receive no assignment until that time.

GUARD AGAINST SMALLPOX.

BOARD OF HEALTH IN SESSION THIS AFTERNOON.

Will Undoubtedly Recommend Vaccination—Disease Likely to Reach Fort Wayne.

The city board of health is holding an important meeting this afternoon and the leading question up for consideration is that of preparing to combat an epidemic of smallpox. The disease is gaining an extensive foothold in the state, and it is entirely probable that Fort Wayne will be visited by the plague. It may not appear before fall or winter, but it may be expected at any time.

Dr. Proegler, the county health officer, is meeting with the board, and the board will no doubt urge prompt and general vaccination. Dr. L. Park Drayer, the city bacteriologist, who returned from Indianapolis, has set the fashion. Dr. Drayer was vaccinated by the state board of health officer, Dr. Hurty, who then underwent a similar operation at the hands of Dr. Drayer.

Smallpox was brought into the state from Arkansas. It obtained a foothold in some of the southern counties, and then spread northward until it appeared at Shipshewanna and at Valparaiso. At its meeting this afternoon the board of health will undoubtedly adopt stringent measures for combating the the disease. "I do not think," said Dr. Drayer this morning, "that the board will order vaccination at this time, though it will undoubtedly recommend it. As a general thing people pay little attention to such an order until the disease has reached them, and then they are anxious enough to be vaccinated without an order. When the order does come, however, those who neglect to comply with it will be forced to submit to vaccination under the direction of the board."

"There is no occasion for a smallpox scare," continued Dr. Drayer. "In a generally vaccinated community the disease is not usually more fatal than typhoid fever, but no precaution against it should be neglected. When it occurs in summer the disease is often of a mild type and is quite frequently mistaken for something else. It is during the winter that the death-dealing epidemics of smallpox occur."

There are three types of the disease, and some of the cases in the southern part of the state have been of the most virulent form.

BIDS WILL BE OPENED.

The board of public works will hold a special meeting tomorrow evening at which time bids will be opened for the pavements on Walton avenue and Wayne, Fourth, Baker and Madison streets. Bids will be accepted on four kinds of material, sheet asphalt, block asphalt, brick and creosote. Heretofore creosote has not been admitted, but such satisfactory reports come from other cities that the members of the board decided to allow the representatives of creosote to bid. The competition promises to be a as spirited as usual, many of the material men having already arrived in the city.

HONORS FOR FORT WAYNE.

For the benefit of the Fort Wayne District Epworth league, which met at Geneva last week, an evening's entertainment of reading, vocal, violin and piano music was given by Mrs. Carrie Schrader-Gesaman, Miss A. Lillian Schrader and Mrs. Hedwig Schrey. The following is clipped from the Geneva Herald:

"The concert given on Tuesday evening was a grand and delightful success in every way. The participants proved to the congregation that they were perfect artists in that which they had in hand. In fact it was undoubtedly a delightful and gratifying occasion to both the visiting delegates and the citizens of Geneva. A lecture is a grand thing for the education and uplifting of the young people of the church, but we are thoroughly convinced that there could have been nothing more uplifting and refining and inspiring for the occasion than were the music and readings of this company."

BIDS WERE ALL REJECTED.

NO FURNITURE CONTRACT LET BY COMMISSIONERS.

The Lowest Bid Was Not Satisfactory and None Was Therefore Considered.

The county commissioners have rejected all bids for the furniture of the new court house. The lowest bid was submitted by the Wallaeger Manufacturing company, of Milwaukee, and inasmuch as this bid was unsatisfactory, the commissioners determined to reject all bids.

The new law provides that all contracts for material must be awarded to the lowest bidder, the word "best" having been stricken out of the law. Under the old advertisement the furniture dealers were allowed to submit plans of the furniture to be furnished under the bids. Architect Tolan will prepare plans himself for the second bidding. He will select the furniture which the commissioners believe is needed and the award will then be made to the lowest bidder. Under this second bidding all dealers will be on an equal footing.

The re-advertisement will be made at once and it is believed that there will be many more bidders than on the first bidding.

MANNA FALLS AGAIN

The Miraculous Bread from Heaven Which Fed the Children of Israel

IS FOUND AGAIN NEAR MOUNT SINAI.

Much Interest Manifested and Investigators Have Already Left Cairo and Suez for the Sinai Peninsula, to Obtain Specimens of the Manna.

New York, June 26.—A special to the Journal and Advertiser says:

Manna, the marvelous bread upon which the Israelites subsisted for forty years while in the wilderness, has again fallen in Lower Palestine.

Cairo dragomen, who have talked with some of the Bedouins of the Desert of Shur, in Lower Palestine, say that the plainsmen bring word of an extraordinary fall of manna. They say that the strange substance has fallen in such profusion that it covers the ground for a depth of several inches. Other tribes have given similar information, which makes it appear that the manna has fallen over most of the desert lands comprised in the Sinai peninsula, which is beside but well to the eastward of the Suez canal.

All the dwellers in the Sinai peninsula are familiar with the ordinary manna, which is a gummy exudate of the Tamarisk shrub, but they say that the present fall in no way resembles the usual substance. Instead of being yellow, it is white, and it will not keep nearly as long as the ordinary manna. The Bedouins, who have neither books or archives, but have, nevertheless, the chronicles of their ancestors by heart, call it "man-hafu"—the old manna, declaring that it is the manna of their forefathers. This refers to the manna upon which the wandering Israelites were miraculously fed 3,000 years ago.

Hearing of the heavy fall of this strange substance investigators have already left Cairo and Suez for the Sinai peninsula, to obtain specimens of the manna, in the hope that the investigation may make clear one more disputed point in the Bible.

SHOT DOWN IN THEIR OFFICE.

Marion, Ind., June 26.—Willie Brown, aged eighteen, a son of George Brown, a respected citizen of Marion, entered the Chicago Loan company's pawnshop Saturday night at 11 o'clock, as the proprietors were closing up. He came in through a rear door with a mask over his face and a revolver in his hand and demanded the contents of the cash drawer and safe. The proprietors, H. Hurwitz and Max Cunopop, were standing behind the counter, and Cunopop sprang at the man and caught him by the throat. The robber opened fire and sent two bullets into Cunopop's body. He then leveled the pistol at Hurwitz and fired twice, one bullet taking effect in Hurwitz's stomach and the other in the right leg above the knee. The robber then dropped his revolver and started to retreat through the front door. Cunopop sprang on his back and threw his arms around his neck and was carried across the sidewalk into the street and nearly a half square from the scene of of the shooting. He was closely followed by Hurwitz, who was calling for help. A number of merchants in the block came to their assistance and captured the robber and turned him over to the police. Cunopop fell to the ground and was carried into his office, where he expired within half an hour. Hurwitz was taken to the city hospital and the doctors say he cannot live.

BIG VALUE FOR NEW AVELINE.

THE HOTEL IS APPRAISED AT $120,000.

Ordered Sold at Private Sale—Administrators Give Bond for $240,000.

Judge O'Rourke has issued an order for the sale of the New Aveline hotel property at private sale, the sale to be made by the administrators of the late E. T. McDonald's estate, Hon. R. S. Taylor and Henry J. Miller. The property was appraised Saturday by C. A. Wilding and Ed M. Wilson, who fix the value at $120,000. According to law the property cannot be sold at private sale for less than its appraised value and this means that the Madison Avenue bank, of New York, will receive at least a portion of the money due on its second mortgage.

Administrators Taylor and Miller this morning filed in the circuit court a bond for $240,000, the law requiring that their bond shall be twice the appraised value of the property to be sold. The bond was made by Schrader & Wilson, representatives of the Fidelity and Deposit company of Maryland.

The judge's order fixes the time of sale at four weeks after one publication notice and before making transfer the administrators must first secure the approval of the court. It is believed that the property will be bought in by Thomas B. Shoaff, of New York, who holds the first mortgage of $90,000.

The E. F. C. T. auxiliary will have a meeting Wednesday, June 28th, at 2:30 p. m., in the B. of L. E. hall. The new officers will be installed and committees arranged for the coming year. Arrangements will be made to serve ice cream, cake and lemonade afternoons and evenings at Swinney park during the week beginning with July 17th, the proceeds to be used for the hospitals. Every member of the four auxiliaries is cordially invited to be present at this meeting and assist in this work.

The First Presbyterian church family picnic will be held tomorrow afternoon at the Brookside residence of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Bass. Conveyances will meet the street cars from 4 o'clock on and the admission fee to the grounds will be 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children under twelve years of age. The grounds will be illuminated in the evening and ice cream will be on sale. Luncheon will be served at 6:30.

The Fort Waynes wiped up the earth with the Furniture Makers by winning a double-header yesterday and making it five straight victories over Torreyson's alleged coming champions. The Furniture Makers were in a crippled condition and after Valdois had his hand split in Saturday's game they were about as strong as an amateur city league team. It was necessary to fill in yesterday with Fort Wayne semi-professionals and these players helped lose the game by making costly errors.

Reiman and Campbell were opposing twirlers in the first game, and as usual the Fort Wayne twirler was batted for more hits than his opponents, but kept the bingles so scattered that the visitors could score no more than three runs, while yellow support allowed the Hoosiers to score seven runs off Campbell's delivery.

In the second game Manager Glassecock pitted Sample, his new pitcher, against Wolf, and the youngster clearly outpitched Torreyson's star. In nine innings five bingles were made off Sample's delivery and three of these were by Bradley, whose exhibitions of fielding and batting on Fort Wayne grounds have always been 50 per cent. better than his alleged high-class partner, Hemphill. Wolf was poorly supported and, of course, had another lost game credited to his already long list.

The features of the two games was the batting of "Doggie" Miller and the infield work of Tim Flood. Miller made a home run in each game, besides hitting out three singles. In the second game the Fort Waynes made three double plays, one of them from Glassecock to Hollingsworth and back to Glassecock. This play, which is seldom seen on a minor league diamond, was made by the same players in Saturday's game. The following scores will tell the stories of the two victories:

He made nineteen hits and averaged about .600, bringing his average for thirty-nine games in which he played for Fort Wayne up to .359. NOTES OF THE GAME.

Wheeling has signed a twirler named Watson, who pitched for the Mellwaine college team. He is said to be a phenom.

Sample's sample of twirling yesterday was high-class and if he can keep up the gait Fort Wayne is assured of another first-class pitcher.

The Superbas beat the Clover Leafs at Lakeside park yesterday 10 to 7. Batteries—Schneiker and Stilder; Stutzenberger, Vachom and Happe.

Eddie Zuram has sent in his resignation as an Interstate league umpire and Bobby Gruthers has succeeded him. Bob is an experienced umpire.

A picked nine calling themselves the Shamrocks played in Huntington yesterday and were defeated 23 to 7. Riley and Jack Smith were the Shamrocks' battery.

The Fort Wayne team draws larger crowds on its trips than any other team in the Interstate league. Patrons know that they will see one team play that never quits, although it may be badly defeated.

Manager Glasscock tells The Sentinel that Charles Comiskey, owner of the St. Paul Western league team, is after "Cy" Swaim. The elongated twirler is not for sale, but Glasscock says that Comiskey can have him for $400 and Willie McGill.

Patterson will be released by Youngstown and Shafer, of the defunct Cedar Rapids team, will play first base for Truby. The management would be better off with a new manager and somebody behind the bat other than "Tacks" Latimer.

The Fort Waynes went to Dayton today, where they will play a series of three games. The Hoosiers then go to Toledo and on Thursday, Friday and Saturday play their last three games of the season in the Lake City. Kelb did not go with the team.

Decatur's crack semi-profesional team will play the Shamrocks at Exhibition park tomorrow afternoon. The Decaturs have won twelve straight games and it is the hope of the Shamrock manager that they can put a crimp in Decatur's winning streak. Robbins and Braden will be in the points for the Shamrocks.

With Hemphill and Valdois out of the Grand Rapids team Toledo should have an easy time winning three straight this week. The league should give Torreyson a call and compell him to transfer his team to Grand Rapids citizens, who have a pride in winning, rather than being continually on the lookout to sell some player and "gold brick" a big league manager.

FRACTURED HIS ARM.

While riding his bicycle in the south part of the city Saturday evening Hiram Moderwell, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Moderwell, of West Wayne street, sustained a fall in which he fractured his left arm at the elbow.

England's Coal Stock.

It is estimated that England's stock of coal will last 200 years longer, and North America's 600 years. It is not likely, however, that these supplies will ever be needed, as it is probable that before many decades have passed power will be gained in other ways.

INTERNATIONAL RACE OF AUTOMOBILES.

French and American Machines to Be Run From Chicago to New York.

The September cup race is not to be the only international sporting contest of the present season. The proposed automobile race between an American built motor car and a horseless carriage of French construction over a course extending from Chicago to New York will be an event of almost equal interest.

Mr. Alexander Winton of Cleveland, inventor and owner of a gasoline automobile carriage, has challenged M. Ferdinand Charron, the most expert automobilist in France. There seems to be as much difficulty in settling the terms of the race as there has been in past years about the big yacht races, but it is expected that all these details will soon be amicably adjusted.

The race is scheduled to take place some time in August. The course is about 1,100 miles long and will be the longest one ever which such a contest has ever taken place.

M. Charron and Mr. Winton are representative experts as well as pioneers in this new sport. Mr. Winton will use the same machine in which he recently rode from Cleveland to New York at the rate of 15 miles an hour. His French rival will drive the automobile with which he won the race from Paris to Bordeaux and back.

M. Charron is one of the foremost figures in the world of Parisian automobilism. Like most of the successful racing chauffeurs, he is a graduate from the cycle racing game and is a past grand master in the intricate art of jockeying, an accomplishment which has been of the greatest benefit to him in his progress to the top of autocar racing.

Charron was a butcher boy, but, despairing of gaining either fame or fortune in that business, he exchanged the white apron for the racing suit and was a success almost from the very beginning. For three years in succession Charron won the cycle championship of France. Then he gave up the race track and, with his championship laurels as his only capital, took charge of the Paris agency of an English bicycle concern.

At the time M. Charron embarked in his new line of business there was really only one concern in the entire world which made satisfactory automobiles, and so great was the demand for them that purchasers were content to wait more than a year after ordering and paying for their carriages before they were delivered.

M. FERDINAND CHARRON AND HIS AUTOMOBILE.

M. Charron signaled his entrance into his new field by placing an order for 1,000,000 francs' worth of autocars, thus virtually cornering the market. The result was that the manufacturers had to refuse all orders and refer would be buyers to M. Charron, who promptly advanced the price of his contracted for machines 100 per cent, sold them all prior to their delivery to him and cleared a profit by his shrewdness of more than 1,000,000 francs.

M. Charron is the premier chauffeur of France. Nothing will better exemplify this than his performance in the recent Paris-Bordeaux race, in which he did 351 miles in the unprecedented time of 11 hours and 43 minutes, or an average rate of better than 2 minutes and 30 seconds for each mile.

To meet the assertion that this wonderful performance was due to the perfection of French roads it is well to note that the event was run off during terrific wind and rain storms, and was thus far from showing what Charron might have done under ordinary or favorable conditions.

In the race M. Charron won were 66 starters—28 of whom had motor cars and 37 motor cycles. The start was made at the foot of the long hill leading to St. Cloud and Versailles.

As soon as the starting signal was given every one of the 66 motors dashed up the hill, and no sooner had the top been reached and the steep ascent beyond been undertaken than the first accident, a collision, sent one of the contestants to the hospital and put two of the vehicles out of commission. From the very beginning the struggle between Charron, De Knyff and Hourgieres was superb. Charron finally went to the front and then landed winner.

M. Charron's wonderful performance is not due altogether to the superiority of French roads, and Americans will do well not to calculate too much upon this. Of course, high speed anywhere is out of the question when the roads are not suitable, but over any kind of road, no matter whether good or bad, much depends upon the machine, jockeying and the handling, and in these Charron is without a peer.

This being the first international automobile race ever run it is probable that it will be watched with great interest and attract widespread attention. After it is over the great American public that supports such things will decide whether or not they are worthy of notice. If these races prove popular they may become as much of an institution as the cup races. FRANKLIN PRICE.

Rev. Father Thomas Mungovan preached his initial sermon at St. Patrick's church yesterday. Rev. Mungovan's theme was "The Sacred Heart of Jesus," and his effort was a remarkably able one. The young priest leaves this week for Avilla, where he will be assistant to Rev. Father Duehmig during the summer season.

The board of works has issued an order rescinding its former order forbidding tennis to be played in Swinney park and the local tennis enthusiasts are again indulging in the sport. The former order was issued for the reason that the occupants of buggies were in the habit of stopping to watch the games and blocking the roads.

In trying to stop a speedy fly at the ball grounds yesterday afternoon fourteen-year-old Louis Null, of 116 Erie street, had his right hand split for about an inch between the second and third fingers. He was assisted to the Dreier drug store and Dr. McOscar was summoned, who dressed the injury. The boy was then removed to his home.

At the services in the Third Presbyterian church last evening each member of the congregation was presented with a card which is to be filled out by them with a verse of scripture expressive of their spirit and returned at the communion service next Sunday. This is an inovation and the reading of the verses will undoubtedly be very interesting.

The St. Paul's chapter, Royal Arch Masons (colored), will give an entertainment in Liberty hall on Wednesday and Thursday. The attractions of the entertainment will be the midway and many interesting features in that line are promised. A concert will also be given in connection with the entertainment. The management have purchased a lady's and a gentleman's wheel, which are now on exhibition at the show rooms of the Randall Wheel company. These will be awarded to the most popular lady and gentleman in the society.

About forty wheelmen, members of the bicycling club and their friends, went to Robison park yesterday morning to inspect the new bicycle track which has been constructed there. Those of the party who were posted on the subject of bicycle tracks, expressed an opinion that the oval at the park will make one of the best in the state after it has been smoothed over. The track is constructed of clay, is a third of a mile in circumference and has an elevation of about six feet at the highest point. Several races will take place at the park on the Fourth, in which local racing men will take part.

This evening a meeting of the principal bicycle dealers will be held for the purpose of discussing holding a race meet here in July. These gentlemen have been working quietly for some time and have got the project well under way and they are doing much to interest the local wheelmen in the scheme. It is their intention to have the meet here on the 22d of July if possible, so as to be included in the National association circuit. In order to do this it will be necessary to put up several hundred dollars in the way of premiums. The National association includes all the principal racing men in the country and the gentlemen interested in the scheme hope to have Fort Wayne included in the circuit. A regular organization will be made soon and committees will be appointed to wait upon the principal business men in the city to interest them in the event.

BLAZE ON COLUMBIA STREET.

Fire was discovered in the rooms occupied by Mrs. Keller over the Memphill feed barn, on East Columbia street, Sunday evening at about 5 o'clock. An alarm was turned in, to which companies 1, 3 and 4 responded, and the blaze was soon extinguished. The only damage was soaked grain and broken windows. The fire is thought to have been caused by spontaneous combustion in a heap of carpet rags in one of the rooms on the second floor. The total loss amounted to about $100, which is insured in the Schrader & Wilson agency. Officer Pageler had his right leg severely cut while kicking in one of the windows. The wounds bled profusely and it was necessary to summon a physician to dress the injury. He is unable to be on duty today.

Boy Knows the Kind of Food He Needs.

A grocer in the suburbs of Chicago has a son about six years old who has been kept in the country with an aunt a goodly part of the time, owing to his puny, half lifeless condition.

This last summer when the little chap returned home, he was round, fat and hearty, but when he sat down to his father's table he refused the meat and potatoes and demanded Grape-Nuts, the ready-cooked food.

The grocer knew about Grape-Nuts, and had been selling them over his counter, but it never occurred to him to use them at his own table. It was found upon inquiry that the boy began to improve as soon as he was put on Grape-Nuts by his aunty, and that the evidence of the value of the food was shown by his condition.

It is needless to say the grocer supplied Grape-Nuts to his little boy, without further question, and the entire family have now joined the Grape-Nut army.

HEAVY LOSS BY FIRE.

At 11 o'clock Saturday evening fire was discovered in the building in the rear of the residence occupied by Dr. E. P. Banning and R. B. Rossington, used by the Banning Manufacturing company in the manufacture of surgical instruments and appliances. An alarm was immediately turned in, but when the department arrived the premises had been completely gutted. About $2,000 worth of patterns were destroyed and other instruments valued at $500 were lost. Mr. Rossington had about $200 worth of merchandise destroyed. This, with the damage to the building of $800, will make the total loss $3,500, on which there is but small insurance. Fire was discovered in a box of shavings in the rear of the barn at 6 o'clock by neighbors. This was extinguished, and it is thought that a spark was communicated to some inflammable material in the interior of the building which smouldered for some time before breaking into flames.

Next Monday the fish law expires and fishing with hook and line in streams as well as in the lakes will be lawful. It is a question whether this law is a success. Its enforcement was much like the saloon laws in Fort Wayne—nobody paid any attention to it.

We hope Congressman Robinson will use his utmost endeavors to secure rural free mail delivery for Allen county. There is no section of the state where it can be attempted under more favorable auspices and none where its advantages will be more appreciated. The people in the country are entitled to these facilities just as soon as they can be provided. Rural free delivery has been successful elsewhere in Indiana and it will be successful in Allen county.

A very important announcement appears in our telegraph columns today. Manna has again fallen in Palestine. Ever since the story of the Bible became matter of common knowledge there has been dispute between theologians and scientists as to the nature of the substance called "manna" in the Bible. The theologians cling to the descriptive and miraculous attributes of the manna in the Bible, the scientists deny the miracle. It seems that in this controversy all the difficult problems of the Bible are being made plain.

The suspension of the London Sunday Mail and Sunday Telegraph is a magnificent illustration of the power of the united efforts on the part of the Christian community for Sunday observance. When it became known that the Daily Telegraph and Daily Mail were to issue a Sunday edition a strong and united protest was made by Christians from every station and calling in life. Monstrous petitions were also prepared and addressed to the proprietors of these papers soliciting the discontinuance of the Sunday issue. After a six weeks' experiment, both of the Sunday papers were discontinued.

Slowly but surely the number of Jews in Palestine is increasing, and it is satisfactory to hear that the Jews who return to their old country do not, as a rule, resort to commerce or to trading with money, but settle in agricultural colonies in the neighborhood of the towns. These Jews are mostly from Roumania, Russia and Poland, and have been assisted to emigrate by the munificence of men like the Rothschilds and the late Baron Hirsch. Up till now twenty-two villages have been settled by Jewish colonists, some of them with a population of 2,000. They are rapidly becoming skilful wine growers, and the produce of their vines and olive and fruit gardens find ready sale in the towns of the coast. The Jews who settle in the cities are also well spoken of. They are frugal, industrious and moral, and many of them occupy responsible positions under the Turkish government, where they are able to give valuable assistance to their co-religionists.

According to the Chicago Tribune, Prof. Reginald Roberts states that constant riding in trolley cars, with the clang and bang of quick motion, combined with the unfelt but potent effect of being in a strong electric atmosphere, tends to put the nerves at a higher tension than ordinary. Many neurologists believe that this will lead to a new neurasthenic constitution, characterized by a chronic impatience of slow vehicular transportation. Their idea seems to be that the operations of the mind conform to Newton's law of motion, just as material bodies do. A man who pursues a certain avocation with extreme vigor for a certain length of time finds that when he desires to rest that his over-wrought nerves insist on maintaining the accustomed velocity of pace. Similarly a man who rides daily in a trolley car unconsciously imbibes a desire for frantic haste, and this expresses itself by an annoyance at the ordinary modes of travel. It seems to be a variety of our national disease of undue haste. Modern medical research evidently discloses the discovery of new diseases as well as the discovery of new microbes, new remedies and new anti-toxin serums.

WASTE ON THE FARM.

Governor Mount, who is not only a good executive, but a first-class farmer as well, says that of the 80,000,000 acres of corn grown in 1897, 50,000,000 acres of the by-products, or fodder, were in a measure lost. If this waste had been properly saved for its value as food for farm animals would have amounted to multiplied millions of dollars. An inverse disregard of economic principles is alarmingly manifest in the methods of the average farmer. The wasteful methods of harvesting the corn crop if pursued in any other business would result in bankruptcy.

Not long ago a closely observing man who had traveled extensively in Indiana said that the waste on farms in this state exceeded the net profits. Recently, in one of the farm institutes in our state, a gentleman who last fall traveled in Europe, made the statement that the waste of Indiana farmers would keep the farmers in France.

"As a result of my own travels," says the governor, "through Indiana I have become convinced that 1,000,000 sheep could be kept during the summer months on the pastures and fields, pulping what would otherwise be wasted, and much of which in the shape of weeds and brush, is positively hurtful to the farms. I am unable to manage any farm and obtain the largest returns without sheep."

CHOOSE OFFICERS.

Division No. 1, of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, held its annual election of officers yesterday and the following were chosen: President, Capt. John H. Rohan; vice-president, M. J. O'Brien; recording secretary, John J. Reed; financial secretary, Patrick Ryan; treasurer, Owen Cummings; marshal, Edward Quinn. Hon. John W. O'Hara, of Peru, state president of the order, was in attendance and delivered an address in which he complimented the Fort Wayne divisions upon their prosperous condition. The division voted to hold but one meeting a month hereafter and that on the fourth Sunday. At the July meeting there will be a public installation of the officers of both divisions and of the Ladies' auxiliary.

August 28th will be the annual outing of the Hibernians at Robison park and it is hoped to make the event the largest gathering of people of Irish birth or descent ever held in Fort Wayne. The date is the anniversary of the battle of Limerick and there will be addresses by noted speakers, plenty of music and field sports, among them a series of Gaelic games.

A horse and carriage driven by O. N. Guldin, president of the Western Gas Construction company, collided with a tandem at the corner of Clinton and East Wayne streets yesterday afternoon. The riders of the tandem were H. G. Kohlinger and G. C. Chilson. Both riders were violently thrown to the ground and the horse stepped on Mr. Chilson's thigh, severely injuring him. Mr. Kohlinger was unhurt, but the tandem was totally wrecked.

Miss Iva Maxwell leaves this week for a visit at Petoskey, Mich.

ASK FOR A FREE DELIVERY.

RURAL MAIL SERVICE WANTED IN ALLEN COUNTY.

Congressman Robinson Endorses Petition From the Citizens of Perry Township.

Ninety-seven citizens of Perry township have petitioned the post-office department for the establishing of the first free rural mail delivery service in Allen county, and their request has the cordial endorsement of Congressman Robinson. The petition was forwarded to Washington Friday. It is signed by A. C. Griffin and ninety-six other citizens and includes the territory between Gloyd postoffice and Collingwood, near the DeKalb county line. The petition may serve as a guidance for people of other localities who desire to prefer a similar request, and The Sentinel here prints it in full, together with Mr. Robinson's recommendation:

"Collingwood, Ind. June 8, 1899.
—To the Postmaster General, Washington, D. C.: Dear Sir:—To the patrons of Collingwood and Gloyd postoffices, on route No. 29,673, in Allen county and state of Indiana, desiring to participate in the benefits of rural free delivery earnestly ask and pray for its establishment in our community for the following reasons, to-wit:

"1. That as citizens of the republic we are of right entitled to it.

"2. That the productive energies of our people will be better conserved. (a) By the greater opportunities to study and to take advantage of the world's market reports. (b) That the community loses far more each year by mail patrons of said offices being compelled to secure his own mail from the at the times per week than to employ a faithful carrier to do the same for them six times per week during the year.

"3. That the ultimate result will be a higher refinement and a more intelligent democracy.

"4. We believe that ours is a typical community in which to try the experiment. The topography of the county presents no natural obstacles inimical to the service. Fully one-half of the roads are gravel, and over the impassable during any part of the year.

"5. Our population of a very cosmopolitan character will not average more than fifty to the square mile.

"6. The handling [illegible] number of farming stock is among the [illegible] and [illegible].

"7. Trusting that the prayer of your humble petitioners will not be unheeded and in an earnest way we shall become the [illegible] of that [illegible] spirit of enlightenment, free rural delivery we are, etc.

—Respectfully yours,

A. C. GRIFFIN
And Ninety-six others.

MR. ROBINSON'S LETTER.

"Fort Wayne, Ind., June 22, '99.—To the Postoffice Department, Washington, D. C. Dear Sir: I send you herein a petition, in proper form, numerously signed by the patrons of the respective offices, towit: Gloyd, Collingwood and Gyp, who are interested in the establishment of rural free delivery in the vicinity of those offices in Allen county, Indiana. With a thorough knowledge of the facts contained in the petition, and with the avocation of the people and the character of the roads and the general situation and conditions as concerns postal facilities, I recommend the establishment of rural free delivery as prayed for in the petition, for the reason that it conforms in every degree with the requirements which have been usual in the establishment of this system, and I regard the location as an appropriate one for the establishment of the service. Allen county is the largest in the state territorially, and the second larest in population, and as there is no rural free delivery in my district I specially recommend that you establish the same at this point as one equal to the best. Yours truly,

"James M. Robinson."

Free mail delivery between Fort Wayne and the towns of the county which are not on lines of railroad would be a great advantage, and it is understood that Mr. Bleke, of St. Joseph township, is circulating a petition for the service in his neighborhood. Petitions are also pending for the service at South Whitley and at Pleasant Lake, in Steuben county.

Dr. H. Ogle, a botanical student of Howard county, has been devoting much attention to experimenting with minerals found in Cass and adjacent counties. He declares that there is gold in abundance in Cass county. He claims to have some methods of locating the precious metals. He says also that there are plenty of diamonds lying about loose, and that there is enough gold and copper at hand to make every man in Indiana rich.

RACE MEET JULY FOURTH

Members of the Associated Driving Club are making preparations for a race meet to be held here on the Fourth at the Driving park. Three races will be given, one of which will be open to all, and it is expected that several of the speedy horses of the city will be entered. There have been three purses of $25 each guaranteed for the races this year, and if sufficient interest is aroused in the event larger purses will be put up at the next event. The members of the club will also arrange for a parade by to be held on the same day and will invite an out-of-town gentleman who owns a stable of speedy horses and who is interested in the club, to be present. The members of the club expect to hold races every Saturday afternoon.

MISS FLORMAN FINDS WEALTH.

Trinidad, Wash., June 26.—Miss Frances Florman, of Black Hills, S. D., has discovered what Aztlu mining men regard as an immense quartz mine. The vein is from 200 to 600 feet in width and is interested in its course by Aztlu City. It has been traced over three-quarters of a mile. Miss Florman's father is a mine expert and numerous assays of the ore which he recently made disclosed values running from $5 to $27 per ton on the surface. Mining Expert Frank Baker and William Partridge have bonded the property for $200,000. Partridge left here yesterday for London to place it on the market there.

THE ICEMAN.
His Job No Such Sinecure as the Song Writer Pictures.
BY CYRUS SYLVESTER.

The iceman has his troubles, inspired song writers to the contrary. The chief of these troubles is due to the fact that a gentle disposition and a deep respect for the criminal code prevent him from killing the man who wrote the doggerel about him and then set it to music.

The average iceman, previous to the spring of 1899, was a cheerful soul. He whistled and sang at his work, swapped jokes with the grocery boy and the cook and went his way in peace. He endured hard work, long hours and small pay without a grumble.

But today he is a changed man. He is nervous and irritable. He looks with suspicion at his old time friends. He no longer whistles as he tramps down the area steps into the basement. He is morose, sullen and taciturn.

"HOW'D YOU LIKE TO BE THE ICEMAN?"

"It's like this," said he, for I had won his confidence, "I didn't mind it for the first week or two when nobody but the smart Aleeks fired it at me. There are only about so many of them in the world anyway, and I kind of thought I'd get to the end after a while. But say, it's been growing worse and worse.

"First the servant girls took it up, one after another. Then a missus or two dropped. Then perfect strangers commenced the racket, and now I don't hear much else from early in the morning until late at night.

"It don't seem to wear out. They ring in repeaters on me. Why, do you know, an old maid customer of mine that I never knew to crack a smile in ten years came down the other morning to fix the ice box for me, and as I goes out the door she shoots after me: 'How would you like to be the iceman? Te-hee! te-he-hee! Now wouldn't that jolt your nerves?'

The words of the first verse of the all pervading music hall outrage run as follows:

While strolling up town the other day,
Saw a brownstone mansion on my way.
I stopped to admire, 'twas simply divine,
And couldn't help wishing that it was mine.
A servant came out, then I asked of him
If Mr. Vanderbilt was in.
I thought it the house of a millionaire,
But he told me that the iceman resided there.

Then comes the chorus:

How'd you like to be the iceman?
How'd you like to be the iceman?

Now, this iceman lives in a $13 a month house which in no way resembles any of the various Vanderbilt mansions. So much for one fallacy. The second verse of the song relates that—

Each day, with his wagon loaded down
Full of ice, he starts off for the town.
At Johnson's cafe a stop he makes,
Fills up the ice box with enormous cakes.
When ready to start and move on his way,
He tells the boss, "It's hot today."
The boss, with a wink, says, "What'll it be?"
"Well, I'll have a gin rool cocktail—that just suits me."

I put the question as delicately as possible, intimating that I should think such quantities of free mixed drinks would be a great temptation to a sober man.

"Free drinks, eh?" snorted the indignant iceman. "Say, that Johnson's cafe must be on some other route. I don't drink on the house once a month. Haven't tasted a cocktail in a year. When I wants a beer I have to put up my own coin for it too."

Another bit of poetic license on the part of the song writer evidently. Perhaps the easy manner in which the iceman gets his groceries is also allegorical. The song runs this way, you remember:

The grocery man is just close by,
And the iceman leaves him his supply,
Then orders ten pounds of coffee that's ground,
Ten pounds of butter, thirty a round,
And ten pounds of sugar, ten pounds of tea.
"How many pounds in all?" says he.
The grocer then says, "Forty pounds are there!"
"Well, here's forty pounds of ice, so that makes us square."

I had not the heart to ask the iceman if all this was true. I hinted that the popular idea seemed to be that his vocation was a pleasant and easy one.

"Oh, yes, it's a graft, nit," said the iceman, dropping into colloquialism. "It's like having money on a winner. I don't think. Take me on Saturdays. I only works about 16 or 17 hours. It's just healthful exercise toying with 200 pound blocks. Then look at the walking I do; a 25 mile constitutional between breakfast and supper. Of course my pay is something princely. Well, it's $2.60 per day now, but I'm expecting a cut. How'd you like to be the iceman, eh?" he asked in irony.

"It's on the house trips that I get the worst roasting. I wouldn't mind filling big ice boxes all day long, but when it comes to the back door act I wish sometimes that I had learned to be a bank president by mail.

"Some women seem to think it's their duty to take time off and sass us. I struck some of them this morning. One opened up on me like this:

"'Now, I want you to put the ice in the refrigerator yourself hereafter,' says she. 'And I want you to do it right. It'll be a sin and a shame if I have to superintend you every morning for the whole summer. All you've got to do this morning is to move the cream jug and the pitcher full of sour milk that I'm saving to make biscuits with, and the platter with the cold chicken bones and that bowl of cold asparagus and the tomatoes—pick 'em up one by one, so's not to bruise them—and that piece of lemon meringue pie—it's in a saucer—and the butter. You can just put them on the floor while you're putting the ice in, and then you can put them back on their shelves.'

"'How much ice did you say you wanted, ma'am?' says I.

"'What I always get—a nickel's worth,' says she. 'Now, take care in getting those things out and putting them back again.'

"You come along with me some morning in the tenement quarter," said the iceman to me, "and you'll see what an upholstered, curled hair sort of a snap I have."

I promised to, not meaning to do it, but I happened to meet him soon after on his rounds. He was busy, so we did not talk, but I listened. A woman hailed him from a basement window.

"Hey, you!" she called in that severe tone which some people think it is proper to use in addressing inferiors. "How much is ice today?"

"Forty cents a hundred, ma'mm," said the iceman.

"Thieves!" exclaimed the woman, and she shortly came out with a huge dishpan in both hands.

"Now, you give me the biggest piece you've got in that wagon for 5 cents—enough to fill this pan—none of your skimpy little pieces," she said in a breath.

The iceman deposited a piece of ice of the usual nickel proportions in the bottom of the dishpan. The woman continued to hold the pan out expectantly.

"Do you call—have you the impudence to call this a nickel's worth of ice?" asked the woman, trying to fix the iceman's wandering eye.

"There's a good 15 pounds there, ma'am, and that's more than"—

"Take your old ice!" exclaimed the woman, and she incontinently dumped

THE ICEMAN GOING TO HIS WORK.
[As the song writer pictures him.]

the hunk of ice out of the dishpan on to the asphalt pavement and strode into her house with her head up.

Just then an organ grinder came around the corner. Some subtle premonition of danger prompted me to move slowly away from the scene. As I rounded the nearest corner I heard the tump, tumpy tump as he began to grind out the familiar melody, "How'd You Like to Be the Iceman?" Then I was glad I left when I did.

Complained of His Liver.

Magistrate—You are charged with stealing a dog. What have you to say?

Prisoner (sullenly)—The dog followed me 'ome.

Magistrate—But the constable says it did so because you had some liver about you.

Prisoner (impudently)—Well, a man can't walk about without 'is liver, can 'e?—Tit-Bits.

FORMER SPEAKERS OF CONGRESS

Of the 33, From Muhlenberg to Reed, Four Were Great.

BY JOHN F. WILLOUGHBY.

THERE have been 33 speakers of the house of representatives. General Henderson, if a political earthquake does not occur, will be the thirty-fourth. Of the 33 who have gone before, the names of only four will be recalled by the average man. These four are Henry Clay, James G. Blaine, Samuel J. Randall and Thomas B. Reed.

Each one of this great quartet of speakers left his individual impress on congress and United States history. Many of the others, whose names have been forgotten, were able men, but on the memory of the past their names do not stand out as do those of Clay, Blaine, Randall and Reed.

The first speaker of the house was Frederick A. C. Muhlenberg of Pennsylvania. He was a brother of Peter Muhlenberg, who at the beginning of the Revolution announced to his congregation of German Virginians at Woodstock from his pulpit at the close of a sermon:

"There is a time for all things—a time to preach and a time to pray—but there is also a time to fight, and that time has now come."

Suiting his action to his words, he threw off his gown and stood arrayed in the uniform of a Continental colonel, his commission having been given him by Washington.

Frederick Muhlenberg was speaker of the house in the First and Third congresses, and his brother was a member of the same house in both congresses.

The second speaker of the house was Jonathan Trumbull of Connecticut, son of that Jonathan Trumbull who was governor of Connecticut during the Revolution and was the chosen friend and counselor of Washington. In fact, the epithet "Brother Jonathan," now applied as a personification of the United States, owes its origin to Washington's habit of addressing Governor Trumbull and to the phrase he often used when perplexed:

"Let us hear what Brother Jonathan says."

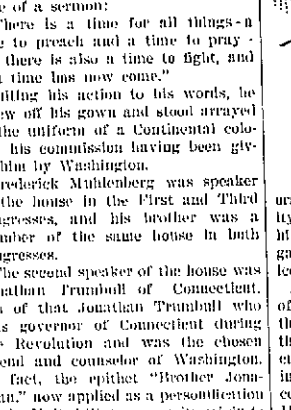
Unless you have been a very careful student of the political history of your country the names of the speakers intervening between Trumbull and Clay will be wholly unfamiliar to you. There came in succession Jonathan Dayton of New Jersey, Theodore Sedgwick of Massachusetts, Nathaniel Macon of North Carolina and Joseph B. Varnum of Massachusetts.

The office of speaker was not so important during those early years of the republic as it is today, and the man who occupied the chair was often but little known.

"And who is James K. Polk?" sneeringly asked a Clay supporter after Polk had been nominated for president. His hearers, many of them, sincerely echoed the question. Yet Polk had already served two terms as speaker of the house of representatives.

It was not until the Twelfth congress that the first really great speaker appeared. This was Clay. He was the only man ever chosen speaker on the day he took his seat as a member of the house. He was elected oftener and served longer than any speaker before or since. His record will be a hard one to beat.

Henry Clay was the first man to give the office of speaker much of the potency it has today, and he was the first speaker who was also the leader of his party at the same time. His influence upon legislation was greater than that of any man who had preceded him. To



FREDERICK A. C. MUHLENBERG.
[First speaker of congress.]

Clay, more than any man, was due the creation of the hostile feeling toward England which led to the war of 1812.

Unlike the speaker in these days, Clay did not confine himself to the mere work of presiding, but left the chair and participated in the debate upon the floor of the house.

Following Clay, there were John W. Taylor of New York, Philip P. Barbour and Andrew Stevenson of Virginia, John Bell of Tennessee and then James K. Polk.

James L. Orr of South Carolina was speaker of the house when his state seceded from the Union. Although he had opposed secession, he left congress and followed his people.

William Pennington of New Jersey was elected speaker of the Thirty-sixth congress after an eight weeks' contest. This was the contest in which John Sherman was the Republican nominee for speaker and came within three votes of being elected.

It was during this struggle that Thaddeus Stevens assured Mr. Sherman that he would vote for him until the crack of doom. When the rush to Pennington came about, Stevens was the leader in bringing about the change in candidates. Sherman went to him and said:

"Stevens, you said you would vote for me until the crack of doom."

"So I did, Sherman, so I did, but I thought I heard her crack."

The speaker of the first war congress was Galusha A. Grow of Pennsylvania. He was a man of ability, and would undoubtedly have continued in that office if he had been returned to the Thirty-eighth congress, but he was not. At the close of his services as speaker Grow received a unanimous vote of thanks, the first of the kind given to any speaker in many years.

Then came Schuyler Colfax of Indiana, who, after serving three terms as speaker, was elected vice president. Colfax was succeeded by the second great speaker, James G. Blaine. During his six years in the speakership Blaine achieved some of the most brilliant triumphs ever gained in that office. His knowledge of parliamentary law, his close acquaintance with the political history of the country and with the record of its statesmen, past and contemporaneous, his power as an orator and his great personal popularity among men of all parties enabled him to add to the glories which he had gained by his six years' previous service in the house.

After Blaine came Randall, greatest of the Democratic speakers. He was the most influential man on his side of the house during the days of his speakership and for years afterward. During the excitement over the disputed count of presidential votes in the Hayes-Tilden contest, which occurred in the first year of his speakership, he contributed largely toward bringing about an orderly adjustment of the controversy.

J. Warren Keifer of Ohio and John G. Carlisle of Kentucky followed Randall and then began the long rule of the man from Maine who earned for himself the title of "Czar."

There is no one who does not know that Reed was the first man to count a quorum, but perhaps some may have forgotten the epigram which marked the first application of his new rules. Speaker Reed had announced that a quorum was present when McCreary of Kentucky rose to ask:

"Did you count me, Mr. Speaker?"

Mr. Reed nodded impatiently.

"How do you know I am present?" insisted the Kentuckian.

"Does the gentleman deny that he is here?" drawled Reed, at which the house roared.

General Henderson will be the first speaker chosen from west of the Mississippi. Whether he is to be one of the great speakers who are remembered or one of the ordinary ones who are forgotten remains to be seen.

A Unique Fiddle.

A violin manufactured during his leisure moments by Mr. Slaughter of Montrose, Mo., is unique in design and in the material from which it was constructed. The back of the instrument is cherry, from a table that Mr. Slaughter purchased from the Howard-Payne college more than 35 years ago, and is probably more than a century old. In the center of the back of the instrument he inserted 21 different pieces from the Holy Land, one being a grapevine that grew in the garden of Gethsemane.

Around the margin is set a row of small pieces of wood in the shape of diamonds. These little pieces of wood have been gathered from all over the civilized world, and Mr. Slaughter has been years in gathering them. In one end of the back is a horseshoe made of castor wood, and in the other end is the image of a rabbit carved in cherry, and there are in all over 150 different pieces of wood. The only tools Mr. Slaughter used were a pocketknife and a half inch chisel.—St. Louis Republic.

A Slow Fire.

Mrs. Crummet—Cook books are so unreliable.

Mrs. Cruller—I know it.

Mrs. Crummet—It said the eggs should be cooked over a slow fire. I followed directions. The result was that the eggs hatched. The book ought to have said that it would not do to have a fire too slow.

"You don't seem to be on very friendly terms with your brother."

"No, sir, I'm not."

"What did he ever do to you?"

"Do to me! Sir, that brother of mine is two years younger than I am, and yet by the time he was 5 years of age he had the audacity to so far outgrow me that from that time on until we both left the parental roof his clothes were cut down for me instead of mine being cut down for him."—Chicago Post.

GROWTH OF TRAVELING LIBRARIES.

How the Movement Has Spread Through the South and West.

BY ANNETTE CRAWFORD.

While the traveling library movement is by no means new, its development during the last two or three years has been most rapid and interesting. In many parts of the south and west this scheme of circulating good books in districts which are remote from public libraries and bookstores is now being operated with great success.

The traveling library system of Georgia is a type. It was organized by Mrs Eugene R. Heard, who is also president of the Seaboard Air Line Village Improvement association. At a recent meeting of the American Library association in Atlanta Mrs. Heard made an interesting report of her work.

She began in a small way at her own home in Rose Hill, Middleton county. There were very few books in the village besides those owned by Mrs. Heard. She wished that more of her neighbors would read. She began by lending her own volumes.

From various sources she increased her stock and made plans for a wider and more systematic distribution of books. She put the books into small lots of 15 or 20 volumes each. These she packed in neat boxes, suitably labeled, and found means of sending them to persons in nearby villages. When all the books had been read, the case was returned and another one sent in its place.

Since then the impetus given to her effort by the free transportation granted by express companies and railroads has enabled her to send the boxes in all directions. Quantities of books have been given, and the rooms at Rose Hill, which were used as a distributing headquarters, are now overcrowded.

The village of Middleton is now considering the erection of a building especially designed for a library, and it is proposed to provide an assistant for Mrs. Heard, who is devoting herself, without recompense of any material kind, to this work.

"I am glad to do it," she says. "Before I went into this work I felt that there were books too precious to be handled, that many of mine were too good to be lent to anybody. Now, I know that nothing is too good for the poorest reader, and I never send out a box that I do not try to put in some of my choicest volumes."

Mrs. Heard was for three years chairman of the library committee of the Georgia State Federation of Woman's Clubs. She was one of five library commissioners of the state, appointed by Governor Atkinson. It was through the influence of the women of the federation that she first took up the work, and having entered upon it she labored continuously. Through her interces sion the co-operation of the railway lines was secured.

The states to which books are sent are the five seaboard states—Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia and Florida. Mrs. Heard said that the greatest call is made for educational books, and of these all that are on child study and household economics are popular.

From the country women there is a special demand for cookbooks of all kinds and volumes containing labor saving suggestions. Magazines and all periodicals are thankfully received. Many are sent as gifts direct from the publisher. Old numbers of any periodicals are also found interesting by the readers in far away places, where few books are to be had. If these back numbers are of successive months, they are the more valuable.

Wherever she hears of an opportunity to establish one of the village improvement clubs Mrs. Heard goes to the place to organize it. The traveling library was first taken up as a supplementary work to that of the village improvement association.

In much the same way the traveling library movement has spread in other states. In nearly every case enterprising and public spirited women have done the work.

The same scheme for traveling libraries has even been adopted in Chicago, where small boxes of books are distributed among the homes in the poorer quarters of the city.

The hostler essayed to kiss the house maid.

She coyly stepped aside.

"Stand still!" he exclaimed.

Which is not the way as he found to curry favor with the fair sex.

THE NEGLIGEE SHIRT.

With loud satisfaction we're hailing
The son of the negligee shirt,
Whose bosom was still starch is ne'er stiffened,
Whose collar lies low and inert.
It may not be what is called "dressy,"
But not on this we care,
For comfort is what we're now seeking
In things that we eat, drink and wear.

At last we are free from discomfort
Of bosom as stiff as a board,
Which held us erect as the armor
That in the old times turned a sword.
No more by long cuffs are we bothered,
The kind that encircled our fists,
For negligee sleeves we're now wearing,
And they only come to the wrists.

No more are we worried by collars
In which our poor necks were long cooped
And by which we nearly were strangled
Each time we unthinkingly stooped.
Our heads we are now freely turning
In any direction we please
Without making quick revolution
Or swinging around by degrees.

The broad silken scarfs we've discarded
For others of much smaller size,
And now round our necks we are wearing
The narrow and neat little ties.
The shirt studs we fumbled so often
Until we were red in the face
Have gone, and the old fashioned buttons
Are back in the time honored place.

When hot waves rush in and assail us,
'Tis comfort all mortals desire,
And that is just what we are finding
In wedding this change of attire.
Though some will declare it's not "dressy,"
Remarks of such nature don't hurt
Our feelings, for gladly we're hailing
Return of the negligee shirt.

Her Life at Stake.

The woman who is accused of murder is testifying in her own behalf.

We omit the description of her gown and come at once to her story.

It is a thrilling moment, understand.

"You know you are pretty, don't you?" insinuates the prosecutor.

"No," answers the woman, thoroughly on her guard.

The spectators heave a deep sigh of relief.

For a woman who knows she is pretty isn't a bit pretty, and if she happens to be accused of murder this knowledge may prove fatal.—Detroit Journal.

He Who Must Be Obeyed.

"But after you had knocked down the two or three policemen who had cornered you, and could have escaped by running form the flat you were trying to rob," inquired the magistrate, bent on getting at the facts in the case, "how did it happen that you surrendered so tamely to this undersized officer in citizen's clothes?"

His Baccalaureate Sunday, Delivered on the Fiftieth Anniversary of His Own Graduation.

New Haven, Conn., June 26.—President Timothy Dwight, the venerable retiring president of Yale university, Sunday preached his last baccalaureate sermon before the graduating classes of the academic and scientific departments. The occasion was also the fiftieth anniversary of President Dwight's own graduation. Many of his old classmates were in the chapel. The graduating class occupied the greater part of the body of the Battel chapel. All of them wore the academic robe, and with them were many visitors from out of town. President Dwight's address was largely of a retrospective and personal nature. At the close of the sermon President Dwight addressed a valediction in the most solemn and impressive manner, his voice often choking with emotion. His words were:

"And now, my fellow students, and may I not almost say my classmates of the class of 1899, let me ask you to rise. The words which I have spoken to you have had a very personal meaning. So much of the pesonal was there in them that they may have seemed more adapted to a friendly conversation than to be presented to you in a large public gathering. But the occasion must be the reason for giving them to you here. I can scarcely find it possible to speak to you in any other way. You and with me, leaving the university. You and I go forth together; you the younger brothers and I an older. But we are all of us going forth into a great and glorious brotherhood. Fifty years separate us in point of graduation, but in this brotherhood that is no separation, for we all are members of a great college home. You stand, indeed, at the end of your college careers with much faithful spirit, much of energy and with many pleasant anticipations. But for me the summer day has passed into the late afternoon. For you it is still morning.

"I have tried to speak to you of what life teaches and of that loving Father who orders our life's movements for us. I have not told you anything of sorrow and of disappointment. They will meet many of you and some of you possibly many times. The costs and the results of them you alone will know. But you will find, as the years go by, that they are helpful to the upbuilding and to the glorification of the soul within you, and that the divine Father, if you trust thus to His undying care, is ever leading you out of darkness into the sunshine of His love. When the clouds of the summer day pass away they leave the sky the brighter.

"I wish for each of you life's greatest blessings, its greatest happiness and the best it can give you. I wish you joy and that your sorrows may be scanty. May they, as for God's children, work out your entire good and give you evidence that you are under His care and keeping. I wish for you that faith in Christ the expression and the sign of the Father's love. I wish for you to lose every doubt, every questioning fear, every weakness and sin that your life may be full and abounding.

"And so I bid you farewell. May the long summer day and the sunset hour at the end of it be filled with beautiful light, and may the closing twilight season bear thoughts and hopes of the better and the happier life beyond. May your testimony and mine unite together as it comes from our personal experience in the words of the psalmist's song about our loving God and Father who "Maketh the outgoings of the morning and evening to rejoice."

Tooth-Pulling by Proxy.

The sultan of Turkey is most inquisitive as to what is said and written about him abroad. Every day translations are laid before him from the newspapers of the world, and these are all closely perused. His majesty is a bad hand at suffering. At one time he wanted to have an aching tooth removed and dared not. Eight slaves had molars drawn out in his presence that he might have an opportunity of judging the extent of suffering entailed, and finally the sultan decided that he would rather bear the pain than undergo such an ordeal.

High Altitudes and Health.

Scientific journals are bestowing great praise upon a book by Prof. A. L. Herrara of Mexico, which recently won the Hodgkins prize of the Smithsonian Institution. Prof. Herrara treats of the effects of high altitudes on life, particularly as illustrated by the valley of Mexico, whose elevation is 7,350 feet above sea level. He upsets some old notions, and shows that residence at a high altitude and "baths of rarefied air" conduce to health and longevity, especially in the case of tuberculosis.

FIGHT AMONG INDIANS.

Vancouver, B. C., June 26.—Three rival factions of an Indian community at Fort Essington had a bloody fight last Saturday. The steamer Princess Louise brought the news here and many of the Indians who took part in the fight came with her. A few weeks ago the Indians encamped at Essington went on a strike in the salmon fishing business. A corps of Salvation Army arrived shortly afterwards and commenced to hold revival services. These were very popular for some time, and the Methodist and Church of England missionaries then decided they would imitate the example of the Salvationists, so that soon they had the camp about equally divided among them. This condition of affairs resulted in a serious riot on Saturday in which many Indians were injured but none killed.

BAN IS PLACED ON UNIONISM.

Hartford City, Ind., June 26.—What is believed to be the beginning of a strike in the non-union bottle factories of this city was begun yesterday. Five blowers at the plant of the Hartford City Flint Glass company were discharged, as it was known that the men had become members of the Flint Glass Workers' union and were enlisting others in the cause. S. C. Stancliffe, of Elwood, a member of the executive committee of the flint union, has been here several days working in the interest of the union. He states that 80 per cent. of the flintware is made by union workers and that it is the intention to unionize all the non-union plants in Indiana before the movement closes.

GREATER ARTILLERY FORCE.

Washington, June 26.—The war department has become impressed with the necessity of increasing the efficiency of the artillery force on duty in the Philippines. There are already a large number of batteries in the archipelago doing duty as infantry, but there is a movement on foot to furnish them with guns adapted to use in that country and the department is now engaged in a series of experiments to determine the most effective form of light gun for use against the insurgents.

MARSHAL IS ACCUSED.

Anderson, Ind., June 26.—Last December Charles Barlow was locked up one night in the jail in Summitville. The building was found enveloped in flames at midnight and the prisoner was burned alive. His heirs brought a $25,000 action against the city of Summitville and Marshal Pat Hannon. In the complaint, among other things, is preferred the charge of foul play. Hannon was arrested on that charge, it being claimed he and the prisoner were enemies.

CUP DEFENDER AGROUND.

Bristol, R. I., June 26.—During an attempt to warp the Columbia out from her wharf to an anchorage in the bay, the yacht went aground and stuck fast in the mud. A tug was called upon for assistance, but the effort to move the Columbia was unsuccessful. The tide was going down steadily, and it was apparent that further effort would be useless, and it was decided to let the sloop rest until high water. A line was run from the topmast to the pier to keep the boat steady, and later a gang of carpenters and painters were taken out to continue the work which has been going on in the interior of the boat. The Columbia is apparently on a soft bed, but it is difficult to determine how deeply she is in the mud.

NEWARK AT VALPARAISO.

Santiago de Chili, June 26.—The United States cruiser Newark, commanded by Capt. C. F. Goodrich, has arrived at Valparaiso.

The Newark left Montevideo for Valparaiso May 17th and her captain was instructed to make quick passage as it was expected the cruiser would be needed at Samoa. Her arrival June 12th, at Port Low, Gaucaneck Island, on the west coast of Patagonia, was reported, nd it was added that she had encountered severe storms in the straights of Magellan. The Newark having run short of coal, the Chilian government dispatched the gunboat Pisagua with 200 tons of coal to Port Low to supply the cruiser and enable her to continue her voyage to Valparaiso.

THE KHALIFA HEMMED IN.

Cairo, Egypt, June 26.—Deserters who have reached the British lines say the khalifa is confined in a narrow valley by the Tagallas, a friendly body of tribesmen. The latter claim to have killed five hundred of the khalifa's followers during the recent engagement. It is not thought likely the Tagallas will be able to capture the khalifa.

THE BOSTON BLOOMERS

Will Play at the Fort Wayne Ball Park June 28.

The Boston Bloomers, champion lady base ball players of the world, will arrive in the city June 28 and give an exhibition with the Shamrocks. The Bloomer girls do not expect to draw crowds entirely on account of the novelty of being female players, but really put up a creditable exhibition of the national game. They travel in a private palace car and carry a canvass fence for enclosing the grounds, a grand stand with a seating capacity of 2,000 and everything necessary to give a first-class exhibition. They have toured all the western states, and have everywhere received good notices from the press, not only for their good base ball playing, but also for their ladylike behavior. 23-4t

WABASH RAILWAY HOSPITAL DAMAGED.

LIGHTNING, FIRE AND WATER CAUSE A LOSS OF $2,000 TO ASSOCIATION.

OLD BOILERMAKER RETIRES

WILLIAM CHERRY RETIRES AFTER THIRTY YEARS.

Lightning, fire and water combined in causing a loss of about $2,000 to the Wabash Railway Employes' association last Saturday morning, when the cupola on top of the hospital building at Peru was struck by lightning. The electric current struck the top of the tower, running down one of the octagon sides and knocking the slate roof off. Immediately after the stroke, fire broke out in the dome and for awhile threatened to destroy the building. The lightning also destroyed the telephone apparatus in the hospital and it was necessary to send a man to a neighboring house to telephone to the fire department. Considerable time was thus consumed and when the department arrived at the hospital the interior of the dome was a mass of flame. The firemen succeeded in extinguishing the fire in a short time but all the water thus used fell back into the building, dripping down through the ceilings of the rooms below and causing much more damage than did the lightning and the fire. The loss is fully covered by insurance.

FREIGHT AGENTS RETURN.

All the local freight agents who attended the annual meeting of the National Freight Agents' association at Norfolk, Va., have returned home and report having had one of the most profitable and pleasant meetings in the history of the association. There was a great volume of business transacted and much of it was important. C. H. Newton, of the Wabash, was re-elected treasurer of the association, which attests to the confidence reposed in him by his fellow agents. The agents were highly entertained at the various places visited, particularly at the navy yards. Mr. Newton was accompanied by his kodak, and took several pictures of objects of interest, notably the Spanish ship Reina Mercedes, which is now at Portsmouth being repaired and fitted for service. He also got pictures of the Puritan and Terror, two vessels that were prominently connected with the recent war with Spain.

WILLIAM CHERRY RESIGNS.

The many friends of William Cherry will be surprised to learn that he has retired from his position in the Pittsburg boiler shop, where he has been employed for thirty years. Mr. Cherry had this move in contemplation for several months, but he said nothing to any of his shopmates about it and they will learn of his retirement for the first time when they read this item. Mr. Cherry is an excellent workman and a pleasant shopmate, and his retirement will be regretted by the men generally.

MADE GOOD TIME.

The Portland Daily Commercial of last Friday says: "R. G. Thompson, passenger agent of the Wabash railroad, was on the Grand Rapids and Indiana train No. 4 this forenoon, it being about six hours late, and tells of a very fast run between Fort Wayne and Decatur. One mile was covered in fifty-four seconds, which made the speed 66.7 miles an hour. The train consisted of six cars, three of them being heavy sleepers."

EXCUSION FROM THE WEST.

The Wabash brought in 462 people from Lafayette and intermediate points yesterday. Most of the visitors came to enjoy a day at Robison park, and they were not disappointed, for the park was never more pretty and more inviting than yesterday. The cities of Lafayette and Wabash furnished fully three-fourths of the crowd, the railway company being obliged to put on three more cars at the latter place.

WRECK AT INWOOD.

Westbound freight train No. 81, on the Pitsburg, got three cars off the tracks at Inwood, causing delay to the train of an hour or two. The Plymouth wreck crew was called to the scene.

THE ROME CITY PICNIC.

The pleasure of the shopmen's picnic at Rome City last Saturday was considerably marred by bad weather. It continued to rain there until 11:30 o'clock and it was not until 2:30 that the grounds were dry enough for the children to play upon and the most of the time at the resort was spent in the buildings. The theatrical performance, which was to take place in the grove, was given on a stage that had hastily been erected at the depot and the spectators witnessed the various acts from beneath the shed roofs. Those who went for the purpose of fishing were prepared for wet weather and they report fine sport and plenty of fish. Taken as a whole, however the picnic was an enjoyable affair and those who attended it say they had a good time.

REMEMBERED THE DEPARTED.

The Ladies' Auxiliary and the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen decorated the graves of their departed members yesterday. There was no elaborate program, the ladies and the gentlemen simply gathering at the cemetery and placing fresh flowers upon each grave.

BRIDGE DAMAGED.

A prairie fire yesterday came near destroying a bridge on the Pittsburg road that spans one of the numerous ditches in the Kankekee marshes. Section men discovered the flames in time to save the company any serious loss. A few ties were burned out but trains were not delayed.

Frank Fisher, a blacksmith, has returned from Switzerland, his native country, and will resume his place at the forge in the blacksmith department of the electric works.

Last week the Pennsylvania carried over its road from the Bethlehem, Pa., works a piece of armor plate which weighed 112,056 pounds, nearly as much as an ordinary passenger engine.

W. H. Smith, a machinist who recently accepted a position in the Bass shops, resigned last Saturday. He has been offered a position in the factory of Aultman, Taylor & Co., of Massillon, Ohio, where he was formerly employed.

Clyde Whiteleather has quit his position in the Pittsburg blacksmith shop, the work being too hard for him. Mr. Whiteleather was ill with typhoid fever while in the government service and has not fully recovered his strength.

Al. Bradley, a coppersmith and tinner, who served an apprenticeship in the Fort Wayne shops and later worked there as a journeyman for several years, is now comfortably located in California, where he is employed in the shops of the Missouri Pacific.

There is an enormous quantity of wool to be shipped from the northwestern states, especially Idaho and Utah, which is to be shipped to Boston, and it is said that an army of soliciting freight agents are in that field to secure the business.

Canon City has agreed to give the Florence and Cripple Creek railway company right of way, terminal facilities, etc., and the company agrees to maintain shops, roundhouses, etc., in Canon City and to erect a cyanide plant of 500 tons daily capacity.

He is quite clever in drawing and designing, and his chances of winning in the foregoing contest are first-class.

It is claimed that two of the handsomest and most expensive day coaches ever built were turned out last week by the Wagner Palace Car works to be run as part of the Empire express train run over the New York Central. The coaches are placed on six-wheel trucks and provided with full width vestibules and anti-telescope steel platforms.

General Manager Shaw, of the proposed Columbus, Bloomington and Terre Haute railroad company, is circulating petitions among the freeholders of Harrison and Lost Creek townships, Vigo county, and will ask the county commissioners to hold an election to vote a subsidy of 2 per cent. for his road. The road is to be ninety miles in length, passing through six counties of this state.

George E. McKenzie, one of the best known ticket brokers in the country, has decided to retire from business and move to San Diego, Cal. During the past twenty-five years he has been in business and his profits from it, added to the returns from fortunate investments, will enable him to live a life of leisure in the future if he wishes to do so. He made the fight for the ticket brokers while the anti-scalping bill was pending in congress."

WINONA HAPPENINGS.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

Rev. E. S Miller, of Greenwood, Ind., has arrived.

Mrs. Hays and daughter, of Grand Forks, N. D., arived Saturday.

Rev. Dr. Burroughs, ex-president of Wabash college, is here for the summer.

Since the electric lights have been turned on many parties from Warsaw take advantage of the lovely evenings in the beautiful park.

E. H. Kemper McComb and bride, of Bucyrus, Ohio, will spend the summer at the park. Mr. McComb was here in 1896 and decided that when the happy event took place this would be the ideal place to spend his honeymoon.

The biological station boys have organized base ball teams. The upper building are the "Bugs," and the lower the "Flowers." Their first game was called at 3 p. m. Saturday. The "Flowers" were out, but on account of the rain the "Bugs" took to cover, and the exciting contest will probably take place today.

The students, cottagers and guests of the hotels held a most enthusiastic meeting at the auditorium last week relative to the program of Winona's great Fourth of July celebration. The Indiana university boys organized a base ball team to be known as "The Winonians." As it now looks that crack team from Fort Wayne, "The Standards," will have to do some hard work to take the honors away from the park.

THE MARKETS.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET.

Chicago, June 26.—Wheat was weak today on a rather small amount of trading. There was an almost entire absence of support and the continued heavy domestic receipts were taken advantage of by bear traders to depress prices. September opened 1¢ lower at 74½@74⅝c. During the first half hour's trading the price declined slowly but steadily, reaching 73⅞c before the turn came. At the decline there was some buying by shorts and against puts, causing a rally to 74¼c. The reaction was short-lived and before 11 o'clock September had touched 73¾c.

Minneapolis and Duluth receipts were 961 cars, against 848 last week and 89 a year ago. Chicago receipts were 155 cars, 7 of contract grade. A visible increase of about a million bushels was looked for.

Corn was slow and weak, the chief influence being the enormous receipts, 1,091 cars. Cables were slightly lower, and the weather was favorable. Not much long corn was forced out by the decline, however. September opened ¼c lower at 34 cents, declined to 33⅞c and reacted to 33¾c.

Oats were quiet and fairly steady, considering the weakness of other grain markets. There was a fairly good cash demand, and this supported the speculative market.

Receipts were heavy, 373 cars. September opened ¼c lower at 21⅜@21⅝c, and advanced to 21½c.

Provisions were weak on the large hog receipts and lower yard prices.

Selling was general, though not heavy. September pork opened 2½c lower at $8.32½, declined to $8.27½ and reacted to $8.30.

September lard opened a shade lower at $5.12½@5.15 and declined to $5.10@5.12½.

September ribs, 2½c lower at $4.82½.

DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, June 26.—The railroads were the features of the opening market today, New York Central rising 1¾c on the reported lease of the Boston & Albany.

There were sympathetic advances in Northwestern, Union Pacific preferred, and Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis, ranging from ⅛c to 1¾c. Reading preferred, Northern Pacific and Atchison preferred also rose sharply. Sugar gained 1¼c, while Federal Steel preferred, which was quoted ex-dividend, dropped ¼c.

Large buying of the standard railroad stocks developed, the Vanderbilts and grangers making pronounced gains.

Some of the specialties were well supported, but pressure against Steel and Wire, Brooklyn Transit, Sugar and Metropolitan obscured the rise in this division and realization followed. Resistance was shown by railways, but concessions were eventually made. Manipulation in Sugar caused a rebound to $1.54½ and the general market hardened sympathetically. New York Central, Northwest and Union Pacific rose to advances of 1¼c to 3c and New Haven stiffened 3½c on bids.

London orders for the international group were large and the entire list was benefited by this absorption. Renewed efforts, however, against the specialties checked the success of the bulls and there were declines of from 1 to 3½ points in the Tobacco stocks, Sugar, Brooklyn Transit, Manhattan and Metropolitan Street Railway. Losses in the railways were under a point except in Omaha and New York Central.

Sales of stocks to noon, 311,735 shares.

Bonds were well sustained on a moderate demand.

Longest Word.

The longest word in the English language is "Proantitransubstantionist," a jointed word of twenty-eight letters. "Transubstantiationableness" is the next longest.

Spending Money.

The average woman who scrimps to buy clothes and gets old over lack of money is apt to gnash her teeth over the coin richer women throw away. The majority of women are lucky if they have $... or $400 a year to spend on themselves. There are at least a dozen women in New York who have $75,000 a year for mere pin money, their dress bills being a separate account.

Geese with "Shoes."

From the middle of September until Nov. 1st immense flocks of geese are driven into the famous goose market in the suburbs of Prague. As the geese are driven in from long distances they are shod"; that is to say, walked repeatedly over patches of tar mixed with fine sand. This forms a hard crust on the feet of the geese, and they, thus shod, are able to cover immense distances without fatigue.

Blonde Statistics.

Blonde hair is finer than that of any other color. By actual count it has been ascertained that 400 hairs to the square inch grow upon the head of a blonde beauty. The brown comes next with 350, then comes the black with 325, and the red with 250 or 260. After counting the hairs growing on an inch square it has been estimated that on the head of a blonde there will be about 140,000 hairs, while a brown suit of tresses will have 109,000, a black 102,000 and a red 90,000.

A Battle Will Be Fought.

Notwithstanding the settled tradition of the "Haustrau," Germany bids fair to be the field on which the great battle of women's rights will be fought out to its bitter end. The League of Women's Associations is growing day by day more powerful, and the influence of its 24,000 members makes itself felt even in the reichstag. In Bavaria, Wurtemberg, Hesse and Saxe-Weimar the appointment of female sanitary inspectors has been secured, and this is pretty certain to be followed by like success in Prussia, where the state orphanages of Berlin are henceforth to have a certain proportion of women on the official staff.

THE PERFECT EYE!

It Requires the Careful Attention of a Skillful Eye Specialist to Keep it So!

When one realizes that the Eye is the most delicate organ of the body, it seems but natural that the making of optical instruments, lenses, etc., should be, as it is, the most delicate art known to human skill. J. L. SIEVERT, of 85 Calhoun street, this city, is the most skilled and widely experienced optician in Eastern Indiana. Mr. Sievert learned the optical business under the world's leading optician, and has had wide experience in some of the largest cities in the country. He spent five years in St. Louis, two years in Chicago, several years in Northeastern Indiana, in which time he has proved himself to be one of the nation's experts in this kind of work. He can show hundreds of testimonials from leading people and physicians in different parts of the country as well as this part of the state, verifying this statement. He tests each eye separately and makes and grinds his glasses by actual measurements to fit each eye, and has made some most remarkable cures after (so-called) specialists had failed. With his long experience, his practical and superior knowledge, and all his instruments of the latest improved, enables him to give absolute accuracy in every case. In the matter of glasses, it is quite as important to have them made by an expert optician as to have the body treated physically and prescribed for by an experienced doctor; yet how few there are who realize the necessity of having their eyes fitted by those whose years of practical knowledge renders them capable of giving perfect satisfaction.

Consultation or advice can be had absolutely free, personally or by letter, at his office, at any time. The fact that he makes no charges for a scientific test and uses no medicine in testing, also that his prices for glasses are very reasonable, places him at once in the lead in popularity with the people.

MRS. KATHERINE A. TINGLEY

At Masonic Temple Tomorrow Evening—Free Entertainment.

Mrs. Katherine A. Tingley, the leader and head of the Universal Brotherhood movement, is coming to Fort Wayne and will hold a meeting on Tuesday evening, June 27th, at the Masonic Temple. Her purpose is to arouse public interest to the importance of the movement, which brings truth, light and liberation to distressed humanity. Mrs. Tingley is on her way back to New York from Point Loma, California, where was held the second congress of the Universal Brotherhood. The congress was largely attended by delegates and representatives from nearly every country, representing the different races of humanity. The interest and enthusiasm awakened in the work at the congress were unbounded. The people of the Pacific coast caught the spirit of this movement for humanity and attended the congress in large numbers.

On her return from Point Loma Mrs. Tingley held meetings at the principal cities and everywhere was received with great kindness and good will.

All are invited to attend her meetings. No charge for admission. Mrs. Tingley is a speaker of great power. She appeals to the heart. Indeed, she teaches the "Heart Doctrine." Messrs. Pierce, Patterson, Dunlop and Cramp, also Mrs. Alice Cleather, accompany Mrs. Tingley. All are devoted to the cause and very interesting speakers. Excellent music will be a feature of the occasion.

All who desire real enjoyment, who wish to see a reconciliation between contending elements which should work without friction as in a common cause, who have faith in the teachings and example of Christ, should attend the meeting. Every great movement in the world has been misunderstood by a large number of people. This movement until recently has experienced the same fate of others. Let it be understood and forever that "The Universal Brotherhood" teaches the doctrines which Christ taught—love of God and love of your neighbor; in other words, universal brotherhood.

Let Fort Wayne do herself full justice by receiving the leader of this great move ment in the true spirit.
